'Betsy Ross' Joins July 4th Fete

Susan Craik, 15, of Midland—portraying Betsy Ross—is among hundreds expected to take part in the annual Fourth of July parade at Midland this morning.

John Shovlin, special events chairman for the July 4 committee and John McNeillie, right, chairman of the Lions Club float are shown with Susan who will be on the Lions Club float.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Craik of 981 Ohio Ave.

Midland festivities were to get under way at 9 a.m. with a flag-raising at the high school. The parade was to begin at 10:30.

A concert by the Midland High School band is scheduled at 12:30 at Lincoln Park, followed by children's races and an all-star variety show at 1:30.

Midland will play East Liverpool in a Junior American Legion baseball game at 2 at Crucible Field.

The Jimmy Sebastian Band and Monaca Cornet Band will present concerts at the park from 5 to 7 p. m.

Drug and bugle corps competition will be held at 7:30 at the high school stadium, with the Butler (Pa.) Catholic Daughters, Twin City Imperials of Franklin and Oil City, the Cambria Cadettes of Ebensburg and Butler (Pa.) Vagabonds. Exhibitions will be presented by Cranberry Pasa Jeros and Pittsburgh Rockets.

The fireworks display is scheduled for 10:30.

Nation Marks 191st Birthday

Fireworks, Parades Mark July 4

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Millions of Americans will pause today to celebrate the 191st birthday of their nation, one of the most festive of national holidays.

Traditional fireworks displays and parades will be interspersed with observances ranging from "Avenues of Flags" commemorating war dead to a contest in throwing rolling pins.

But here, where the Declaration of Independence was announced July 4, 1776, ceremonies will be strictly traditional.

A small group of buildings where the Continental Congress met in 1776 will be the center of activity. Festivities at the buildings, now part of the Independence National Historical Park, will include a reading of parts of the Declaration of Independence and a parade by 3rd Infantry Old Guard units in colonial dress.

As a memorial to Vietnam War Dead, veterans groups in Philadelphia planned memorial services.

In Richmond, Va., bells will peal for four minutes at noon at historic St. John's Church, where Patrick Henry made his famous "Give me liberty or give me death" declaration. Other city bells will be rung, recalling the sounding of the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia.

In cities in Jefferson County, Ala., more than 600 of this nation's war dead will be honored with flags, many of which draped their caskets before burial, on 12 "Avenues of Flags." A Bessemer, Ala., man, H. C. Rush, conceived the idea in 1962. It is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Some 200,000 spectators are expected to attend a "Salute to America" parade in Atlanta, where a 50-gun salute, one for each state, will boom.

More than a million persons were expected for the sixth annual circus parade in Milwaukee, attended by more than 500,000 spectators last year. Fifty-four authentic circus wagons from the Circus World Museum at Baraboo will be featured.

In Dallas, Tex., a parade is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, while evening fireworks are planned in the Cotton Bowl. A 50-gun salute will highlight the July 4 celebration at Ft. Hood, in central Texas.

Details of the operation will be outlined during a future organizational meeting.

At present, Ward declared, there will be no formal charge for a call, but residents who use the service will be asked to make a donation.

The action apparently eliminates the Lynn Ambulance Service of East Liverpool, Robert Pugh of Chester and Ted Turley, a New Cumberland funeral director, who has established an ambulance service in Newell, from the picture.

Pugh announced in May he would begin ambulance service to northern Hancock County by the July 15 deadline, but added he would need subsidy from the city, county or both in order to make the operation pay.

Lynn Ambulance Service, which soon will begin providing the service in East Liverpool, was granted $600-a-month by Council there. James Walker, owner, was to have attended to and invalid coach service will be provided, with local and probably long-distance calls being made.

Ward said the service will be worked out on a month-to-month basis, with six men operating the vehicle each day in three eight-hour shifts.

Calls will be received at the fire department and be dispatched from there to the individuals on duty, he added.

By MILTON BESSER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — After a sharp U.S.-Soviet clash, the General Assembly adjourned Monday night without action on rival compromise resolutions seeking withdrawal of Israeli troops from Arab territory won by war.

The 122-nation assembly quit at 6:25 p.m. EDT until 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, when the voting will take place.

The move for adjournment was made by Austrian Ambassador Kurt Waldheim, who said he was informed that supporters of the rival resolutions were consulting with each other. This implied that efforts were being made to reconcile differences and reach agreement overnight on a single resolution.

The Western powers were split on the rival resolutions, with the United States and Britain supporting a 21-nation Latin American resolution, and France lining up with the Soviet Union behind an 18-nation resolution submitted by the so-called non-aligned countries.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg told the assembly the road to peace in the Middle East is a two-way street, and approval of the Latin-American resolution was the best way.

He assailed the nonaligned resolution as leaving untouched Arab claims that they have the right to annihilate Israel.

But Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko asserted that the first step must be immediate and complete withdrawal of Israeli forces from all Arab territory taken in the June 5-10 war.

He demanded approval of the nonaligned resolution, which puts priority on troop withdrawal.

The Latin-American resolution calls for a withdrawal but ties the call in with a request for an end to the state of belligerency by all parties.

Gromyko unleashed a bitter attack on Israel, accusing it of plundering the Arab countries and committing crimes against the Arab population.

He demanded that the assembly approve the nonaligned resolution, saying "it correctly puts in the first place the withdrawal of Israeli troops from the territory they have occupied."

"Only this decision can provide the key to normalizing the situation in the Middle East," he added.

Gromyko came into the blue and gold assembly hall as Goldberg was delivering his plea for the Latin-American resolution.

The U.S. delegate declared that the nonaligned draft omitted any mention of all of an end to the state of belligerency — a situation he said would seek an Israeli withdrawal but "leave every other essential step to the uncertain future."

Goldberg said the choice before the assembly was clear — "between claims of war and claims of peace."

He noted that the United States had declared it would not recognize Israel's unilateral action in annexing Jerusalem while on this aspect of the problem the nonaligned resolution was silent.

Under the Latin-American resolution internationalization of Jerusalem would be taken up at the next regular assembly session.

U.S. Traffic Toll Soaring To Near 500

'Utmost Caution' Seen Only Way To Avert New Record

By The Associated Press
Deaths in traffic accidents during the nation's Fourth of July holiday period mounted toward 500 Monday and the National Safety Council said "only utmost caution on every driver's part can keep us from setting a record."

The record for an Independence Day holiday period is 576, set last year when the holiday made a three-day weekend.

With little more than 30 hours remaining, the traffic death toll stood at 446.

Howard Pyle, president of the safety council, said the last day of the holiday period usually is deadliest—especially if it is the holiday itself.

Pyle added, "Needless as these deaths are, these victims will not have died in vain if their tragic end alerts those still driving to the hazards that confront them."

"The four-mile backup reported at one of the nation's expressway toll stations and other indications of massive traffic congestion should alert drivers to get an early start for the return trip and make that trip cautiously," Pyle added.

Earlier Monday the safety council modified its original estimate that 700 to 800 persons would be killed on the streets and highways between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Tuesday. A council statistician said indications were that the toll would be between 720 and 750.

An Associated Press survey of a comparable non-holiday period, June 16-20, tallied 530 traffic deaths.

In recent years there has been an almost broken trend of fatality records for each holiday. Among them was 608 deaths during the four-day Memorial Day period this year and the 748 record for any four-day holiday period set last Thanksgiving.

Highway disasters in Virginia and Arizona Monday helped swell the current total. Six persons were killed south of Emporia, Va., when their car swerved after a tire blowout and crashed into an exit signpost on Interstate 95. Five persons lost their lives in a skidding head-on car-truck collision east of Flagstaff, Ariz., on U.S. 66.

During the holiday period, 23 persons have lost their lives in boating mishaps and 87 drowned.

Reds Keep Pressure On Marine Unit

Casualties Placed At 500; New Red Offensive Hinted

By EDWIN Q. WHITE
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese guns and mortars hammered at the U.S. Marine base at Con Thien just below the demilitarized zone Monday, keeping up pressure on the Leathernecks after a day of bloody fighting that cost the Americans more than 200 casualties. Some commanders said the action might be the opening of a new Communist offensive.

At the same time, Communist artillery boomed not far to the southeast, knocking out a vital Marine air base at Dong Ha for five hours and damaging U.S. Air Force radar that scans the DMZ. In still another attack, the Reds shelled a Marine-South Vietnamese post at Gio Linh, 10 miles north of Dong Ha. A long South Vietnamese convoy came under ambush north of Da Nang.

It was as if the Communist enemy had timed his attacks to coincide with the beginning of U.S. celebrations of July 4.

The Marine losses were among the highest suffered in the war by Americans fighting in a single small-unit action. It was the second time in less than two weeks that Communist forces had dealt the Americans a hard blow. In the central highlands village of Dal To June 22, a Communist force caught a 130-man U.S. Army paratroop company and killed 76 Americans and wounded 24 others.

The Con Thien fight directly involved two Marine companies. The Communist action was in a triangle on the eastern end of the demilitarized zone. Con Thien, 11 miles from the sea and a mile south of the DMZ, was at the triangle's northern point, Dong Ha at a southern point about 10 miles from Con Thien, and Gio Linh at an eastern point about 5 miles from the coast.

Strategists said the fighting appeared to represent an increase in the pace of ground action in the Vietnam war and to bear out predictions of renewed activity along the buffer zone dividing Vietnam.

There had been a slackening in the ground fighting over the past month or so.

"The lull is over," Lt. Gen. Robert Cushman told newsmen at Con Thien. He is the Marine commander in South Vietnam.

The Leathernecks collided with the North Vietnamese at daybreak Sunday after top commanders had received intelligence reports of an enemy unit infiltrating from the north.

Officers said that while the Marine casualties were heavy, the Leathernecks did halt the North Vietnamese advance and kept them from staging a possible frontal assault on the Marine base at Con Thien.

"We have not moved into his territory," said a colonel. "But (Turn to VIETNAM, Page 9)

Vodrey Gets Petitions

34 Street Sections Listed For Low-cost Surfacing

Petitions have been filed with Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey's office calling for improvement of sections of 34 secondary streets and alleys in the city's annual summer low-cost surfacing program.

A certified check or money order representing the property owners' share of the cost was filed with each petition. The checks and other drafts will be endorsed and turned over to the contractor selected later to do the work.

Friday was the deadline for filing requests for the work. The city pays 50 per cent of the cost of each job, plus the cost of intersections, with the property owners paying the balance. The city's share is paid out of municipal income tax receipts. In addition, streets surfaced a few years ago will be given a seal - coating at no expense to the property-owners.

HERE ARE the stretches designated for improvement, as listed in the petitions:

Chaffin St. from Dewey Ave. to Cuba Alley; Wallace Alley from Blakeley St. to Ravine St.; Grandview Ave. from Oakwood Ave. to a deadend; Gaston Ave. from W. 8th St. to a dead end; Belmar St. from Carroll Ln. to Dakota Ave.; Coal Alley from Riley Ave. to an unnamed alley; Riley Ave. from Coal Alley to Bradshaw Ave.; Riley Ave. from Ambrose Ave. to Coal Alley.

Wucherer Alley from Sophia St. to Daisy Alley; Dakota Ave. from Belmar St. to Sanford Ave.; Montana Ave. from Belmar St. to a dead end; Belmar St. from Montana Ave. to Carroll Ln.; Carroll Ln. from Belmar St. to a dead end; Mason St. from Ephraim St. to Graves Alley; Mason St. from Graves Alley to Bank St.

Holland St. from Burford St. to John St.; Dakota Ave. from Belmar St. to Olnhausen St.; Cadmus St. from Mars Alley to a dead end; Marcus St. from St. Clair Ave. to a dead end; Andrews Ave. from Globe St. to Holliday St.; Daisy Alley from existing concrete to Mars Alley; Mars Alley from Avondale St. to Cadmus St.

Mazeroski, Stargell Pace 5-2 Pirate Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Mazeroski and Willie Stargell drove in five runs between them, backing Tom Sisk's five-hit pitching as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat Los Angeles 5-2 Monday night.

Mazeroski singled in the second inning after Stargell tripled and then stroked a bases-loaded single for two more runs in the third, breaking a 1-1 tie.

Stargell accounted for the other two runs on a sacrifice fly and his 11th homer, a 500-foot shot over the centerfield fence.

Sisk, 6-6, went the distance for the fourth time this year, giving him twice as many complete games as any other Pirates pitcher. The entire staff has 10.

Grim Reminder Given To Ohio's Motorists

By The Associated Press
Highway Safety Director Warren C. Nelson came up with a grim reminder for motorists driving in Ohio over the Fourth of July.

"During the weekend, one person died every two hours and 50 minutes," Nelson said, adding that not one of the victims wore a seat belt.

Changes Mud-Splattered Shoes

Queen Elizabeth Carries Own Umbrella At Expo

MONTREAL (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II changed mud-splattered white shoes twice and held her own umbrella to tour Expo 67 Monday in an almost lonely look at the world crammed on two man-made islands.

Security men walking with the queen, standing on pavilion roofs and sitting in tiny outboard motorboats kept her subjects away. The people were roped off from the areas she was visiting and except for brief glimpses were steered out of Elizabeth's view.

Wherever the queen traveled, Mounties carrying ropes, apparently for handling crowds if any broke through first-line barriers, traveled alongside her. Montreal and Quebec provincial police backed them up.

But there were no incidents, and a visit to the pavilion of Quebec, the French - speaking province where anti-British sentiment runs high, came off easily with smiles, gifts and a coffee break. The queen took only a sip from her cup.

Rain falling so hard that puddles formed on the broad-brimmed hats of Canadian Mountie guards greeted Queen Elizabeth when she stepped off the royal yacht Britannia. It brought her to the Expo from Cornwall, Ont.

The queen, wearing a print dress of pink and green and a flowered hat, walked through puddles with her umbrella in

Rhodes Creates Transportation Study Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes, saying Ohio "must move people and merchandise faster," announced Monday formation of a Comprehensive Transportation Study Committee.

The committee, to be headed by Highway Director P. E. Masheter and Urban Affairs Director Albert Giles, will help to expedite and assist in regional transportation studies.

"Transportation is a cost of production and if companies and individuals are to make a profit and remain in Ohio, our transportation system in all areas must be the finest," Rhodes said.

Rhodes said Masheter and Giles, as members of the study committee's executive committee, will cooperate with regional civic leaders and public officials currently involved in a number of transportation surveys.

Vote Planned In Fall For Welfare Levy

LISBON — Columbiana County voters will be asked to renew a 55-100ths of a mill levy for child welfare in the Nov. 7 general election.

County commissioners adopted the resolution and mailed it Monday to the County Board of Elections.

The current levy expires this year, but will provide funds from the 1968 collection of taxes. The five - year renewal is for 1968 through 1972.

With the county valuation at $250,000,000, the levy provides $137,500 annually.

Commissioners approved Olde Farm Plat 1 — four lots on the south side of Painter Rd. in Perry Township Section 32. The layout shows 1.26 acres in lots and one-fifth acre in a street.

Harold A. and Marybelle P. Jones are the owners. The plat was approved earlier by township trustees, the Salem Planning Commission and the County Board of Health.

Seth Taft Reveals Cleveland Mayor Bid

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seth C. Taft said Monday he will file in the Republican primary for mayor but that he won't run if a major candidate declares as an independent.

"I will run only if it is clear after the filing date that I can win with a majority of votes," he said.

"Splintered elections, where there are three or four candidates, result in what we now have — indecisive government with a mayor elected by only a third of the voters."

Taft said his decision was made independent of Republican headquarters. Six men have declared candidacy for the mayor's office.

2 W. Va. Pen Inmates Escape Work Detail

HUTTONSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Two Medium Security Prison inmates escaped Monday while on work assignments at the prison coal mine on Rich Mountain.

Prison officials identified them as Jess Ronnie Minor, 24, serving 2 to 10 years from Raleigh County for maiming, and Paul Edward Dean, 26, serving 1 to 10 years from Hampshire County for breaking and entering.

Dean also was under an additional sentence of 1 year and 1 day for a previous escape, officials said.

First Festival Since 1918

Thousands Gather Today For Coronation In Tonga

NUKU'ALOFA, Tonga (AP)—By launch and outrigger canoe, happy Tongans from outlying islands swarmed into their capital Monday for Tuesday's coronation of King Taufa'ahau Tupou IV.

In the villages, people will slaughter 71,000 young pigs for the coronation feasts, leaving the villagers only breeding stock.

Tongans sang, laughed and chattered merrily in the streets awaiting the first coronation festival since 1918, when their beloved Queen Salote took the throne.

Like Queen Salote, who made a hit in London with her wit and charm at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in 1952, her son Tupou is large—300 pounds and standing 6 feet 2.

And he is popular with the Tongans, although some still mourn Salote's death Dec. 16, 1965.

Some, including the keeper of the palace records, have remained in mourning ever since.

On Tuesday they will discard their black mourning valas, which are similar to kilts when they appear for the coronation in the tiny Chapel Royal in the palace grounds.

The service will be along the lines of the coronation of British monarchs, although in the Methodist faith. The only people who will see it are the 77 invited guests from other countries and 140 tongan nobles and other leaders.

Queen Elizabeth sent the Duke and Duchess of Kent to this British protectorate. Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake came from New Zealand. Gov. John A. Burns of Hawaii represents President Johnson.

It had been suggested to the king that his coronation as king of Tonga, also called the in the Chapel Royal, where his mother was crowned.

The king rules a Christian community of about 72,000 persons scattered over 200 islands. The majority of the people, like himself, are of the Methodist faith. The islands have been a British protectorate since 1900, but the constitutional monarchy was established in 1862.

Addressing a news conference at the end of a week-long fact-finding visit, Lukens said:

"The Soviet Union has most regrettably launched a huge arms resupply program surpassing all her previous efforts to Egypt and Syria. This merely established the same exact factors which led to the previous war."

"In view of this, and also considering the French embargo recently announced on material to Israel, I strongly urge the U. S. unequivocally to support the people of Israel in their effort to defend themselves once again against this Communist-inspired and Communist-supplied aggression."

Hussien Urged To Enter Peace Talk With Israel

LONDON (AP)—British leaders today urged King Hussein of Jordan to pave the way toward a Middle East settlement by entering peace talks with his Israeli neighbor.

But the Arab monarch, whose throne and state are exposed to the pressures of extreme nationalists, declined to commit himself to any early positive course of action.

The 2½-hour exchanges between Hussein and Prime Minister Harold Wilson — with senior Foreign Office officials present — took place in an atmosphere of some tension.

No details were released officially but diplomatic sources said later the British made plain their displeasure that Hussein should have lent himself to Cairo's campaign charging British - American intervention on Israeli's side during last month's war.

Hussein called on the British after visiting President Johnson in Washington.

Gov. Smith Elected

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia Gov. Hulett C. Smith has been elected to the five-man executive committee of the Democratic Governors Conference. The election took place at a meeting in St. Louis Saturday.

Gordon Novel Relieved Of Legal Ties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gordon Novel, once considered a central figure in the New Orleans probe into the assassination of President Kennedy, was relieved of legal ties here Monday because New Orleans officials indicated they are no longer interested in him, officials said.

Municipal Court Judge William T. Gillie dismissed three pending extradition cases against the 29-year-old former night club owner.

Gillie acted after spokesmen for the suburban Gahanna Police Department said New Orleans District Atty. Jim Garrison did not reply to phone calls and telegrams asking about his intentions to secure custody of Novel.

"We've not heard anything for two months. We're all sick and tired of this," the officer told Gillie.

Novel's attorney, Jerry Weiner, in arguing for dismissal of three "vague" affidavits, cited a court decision here two months ago by Judge Bruce Jenkins.

At that time, Jenkins contended the deadline to extradite Novel was 60 days, pointing out that if "they (Louisiana authorities) don't do something by that time they are out of business."

Weiner said all the extradition papers sent here failed to establish whether Novel was wanted as a material witness or a fugitive. The papers' only mention of specific charges alleged that Novel conspired or participated in the burglary of a munitions dump at Houma, La.

Picked up by Gahanna police May 1 on that charge, Novel insisted it was trumped up and that Garrison actually was seeking his return to New Orleans for "use" in Garrison's Kennedy assassination probe. Novel has maintained all along the Garrison probe is a fraud.

Diet-Drinking Linked

SINGAPORE (AP) — People who drink a lot of coffee, have poor diets and use a lot of spices may be heading for alcoholism, says Dr. U.D. Register, a professor at an American-sponsored medical school here. He said rats given poor diets or fed coffee and spicy foods develop an abnormal taste for alcohol.

Bolt Cuts Off Power At New Cumberland

NEW CUMBERLAND—Three homes were without electric service for about an hour Sunday night when lightning blew out several breakers on a utility pole.

Firemen were called to the scene when the concussion from the bolt traveled down a sealed-off chimney in a two-story home on Smith St. and scattered soot throughout the house.

The home is owned by Matthew Phillips. The downstairs apartment is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carpenter and the upstairs portion of the dwelling by Mrs. Helen Bowen. The lightning also blew out several fuses in the basement of the house.

Crews from the Monongahela Power Co. restored service to the home and two others in the area.

The Obligation Of 1776

The bold assertion of self-government in the Declaration of Independence was only 22 years old when Thomas Fawcett settled in the bend of the Ohio River at a site which was to become East Liverpool.

The surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown — a mere 17 years previous — was an exciting memory for most of the residents of the forest-carpeted district.

By 1798 the idealistic thrill of independence had been dulled by some of the harsh economic and political realities of existence in the new nation, but the rugged spirit of individual pride in the United States and the determination to make democracy work stirred the minds and hearts of the local frontier farmers and villagers.

Celebration of the July 4 anniversary of the historic resolution of the Continental Congress at Philadelphia soon became part of the local tradition in this community.

One of the earliest recorded observances was documented in 1811 when William Larwell, the community's first lawyer, read the Declaration of Independence, and militiamen marched along 2nd St. and conducted a drill during which Capt. John Wilcox, the commander, accidentally shot off a part of his whiskers.

Today, in the age of the auto, the airplane, the space capsule, electronic computer and mini-skirts, we mark anew the pledge of belief in the rights of man and that government derives its powers from the consent of the governed.

American servicemen today are dying for their belief in that July 4 declaration, and will continue to do so as long as we and our descendants recognize our obligation to the men who signed the parchment in Independence Hall and the privileges which they passed on to us.

Bear With A Sore Paw

Americans have been befuddled for half a generation by a myth of Russian ruthlessness and shrewdness.

Because of the ruthlessness, it was made to appear that the Kremlin was insuperable; that everything it wanted to do was bound to succeed; that its moves were shrewdly planned, ruthlessly executed and therefore bound to be better than anything the United States was capable of doing.

Now would be an opportune moment to ditch the myth.

The Russian government has goofed up every recent move of consequence.

It has lost its shirt in the Middle East.

It has spattered its world image with gobs of doubt in the minds of potential allies.

It has fumbled its way into a gross diplomatic and ideological flop in Red China.

Fellow travelers have been so confused by the twistings and turnings of the first major government run by Communists that they don't know which way they're traveling.

Russian influence in Africa has tottered between tentative and nothing at all.

Cuba has turned into a sad-sack sample of Marxism in Latin America.

There isn't a place on earth where a Marxist could bellow his preachments without risking questions about the authenticity of the ideas he is peddling.

All this does not make the Soviet Union substantially different from Britain, the United States, or the French, Dutch, Italian, Belgian and Spanish governments. All of them have undergone the experience of skepticism, too.

The point is that it makes the Soviet Union the same. Its world image of a powerful government whose influence transcended the influence of other governments has been destroyed. The Russian bear has a sore paw.

Russian ruthlessness and shrewdness must continue to be taken into account. But the world has no call to stand in awe of them.

If an international box score had been kept the Kremlin would be batting under .200, 12½ games off the pace, without a man on the All-Star team for the second year in a row and nothing coming up in its farm system, which also is looking weedy.

Anyone's Guess

Henry H. Fowler, who does not aspire to be known as the "greatest secretary of treasury since Andrew W. Mellon," says the deficit for the fiscal year now under way could reach $22.3 billion, if certain contingencies occur.

The truth is it could go higher than that if the contingencies include continued escalation of the Johnson administration's Asiatic adventure in international power politics.

The rock-bottom figure for the deficit is $11 billion, which takes into account Secretary Fowler's hopeful surmise that Congress is going to push through a surtax of at least 6 per cent on 1967 income. Latest estimate is $13.6 billion. Last January, the guesstimators pegged it at $9.7 billion.

Obviously, the upcoming deficit is anyone's guess.

Government budgeting, which is supposed to be factual — a reliable guide — has become a game of fun with figures. The idea is to spend money first and find it later, if ever. With a national debt of well over a trillion, "if ever" will never come.

Lifeline To The Ghetto

A House committee witness has charged the Office of Economic Opportunity has failed to live up to its name.

A former New York City youth worker, Kenneth E. Marshall, told the House Education and Labor Committee the OEO has failed to put enough emphasis on true economic development. Mr. Marshall presently is involved in research on poverty problems.

He complained the antipoverty agency has hurt its effort by an "almost exclusive reliance" on welfare, training and educational services that have not resulted in needed jobs or improvement in the economic status of the impoverished.

His testimony expresses the feeling shared by many others with misgivings about some of the antipoverty programs.

Cases have been brought to light where expensive training programs trained people for jobs that were not available. In other instances money is handed out in welfare fashions which doesn't add a whit to solution of the root problem of economics.

TRUMAN TWILL

Happy Independence Day

On Independence Day, a patriot should muse about independence. What else?

We American patriots muse in different directions. We are grateful for this. Under absolutist rule, we'd all have to muse the same way.

One thing we muse about is the itch of would-be absolutists to get the rest of us under their heels. This goes on in every society, including our own, except we have a Constitution that discourages absolutism.

One of the curious things about this is the way absolutism still bobs up in the circles of blabbermouths forever yipping and yowling about freedom — their freedom.

They couldn't care less about freedom in the abstract, but they are passionately devoted to freedom for their own benefit.

From where they gaze upon mankind, all of us are equal, but they are more equal than others.

What makes the United States unique and thrice-blessed is the way we have fought from the beginning for equality across the board.

It hasn't been easy to win the right to vote for just about everybody who claims citizenship. It hasn't been easy to hold at bay snobs at both extremes of our social order who yearn to outlaw everybody they claim is inferior.

The battle never will be won, as a matter of plain fact — and that is a key fact of freedom, American-style. We have freedom to keep fighting for what may seem to be a lost cause. Civil rights for Southern Negroes, for example, was a lost cause for a century.

What made the difference in the long run was social conscience. We weren't sleeping well because we knew extremists among us were contradicting the principle of freedom in our country — our country, not theirs.

The biggest thing that has happened to American freedom in recent years has been strengthened resolution to block all minorities that arrogate to themselves the right to dictate to the majority.

The resolution goes across the board and takes care of economic, religious, political, sociological, anthropological, even geographical minorities.

They will never give up trying, but they must never get away with it unscathed and unchallenged.

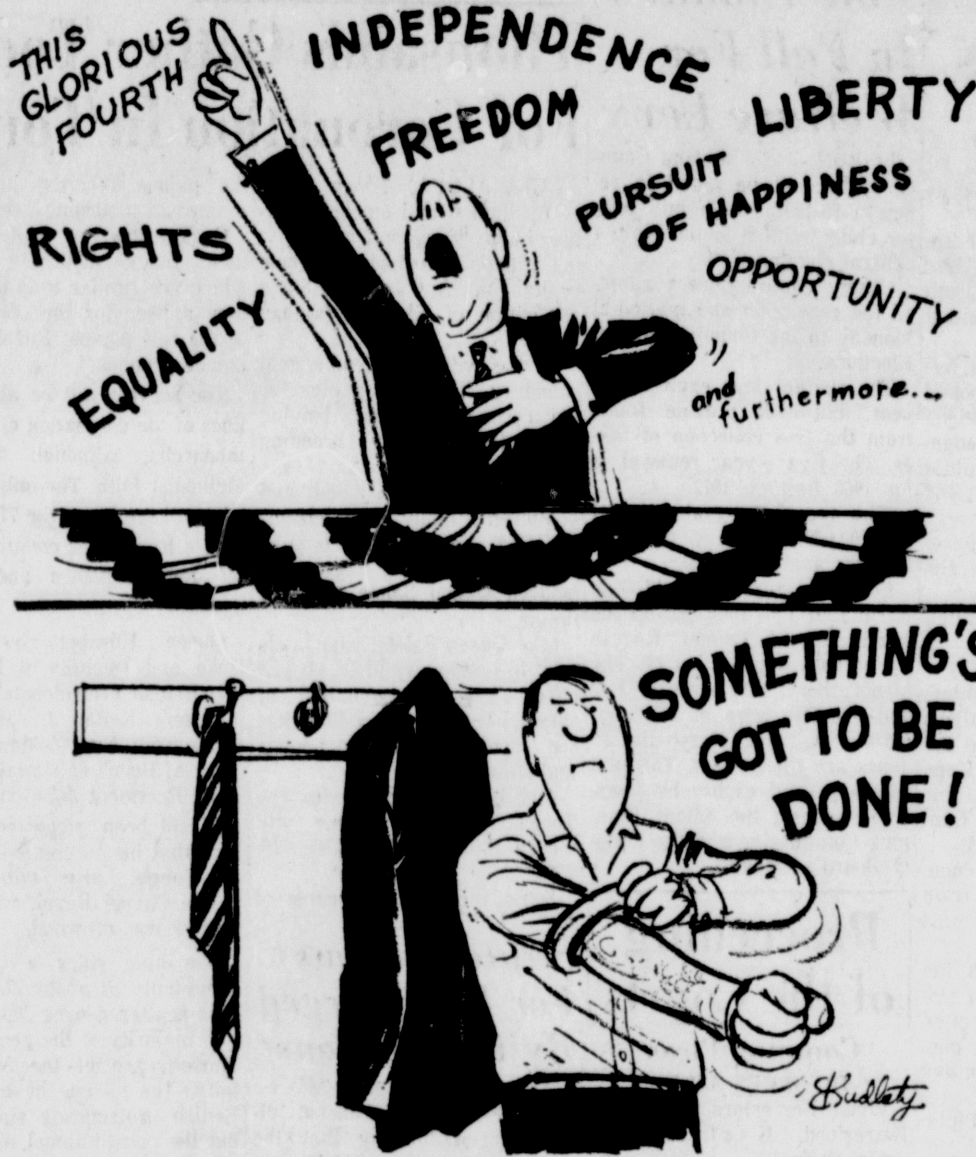

This is what Independence Day is all about. That is how it began.

That is why the Declaration of Independence contains this one especially meaningful statement: "That whenever any form of government becomes destructive of (the unalienable human rights) it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

There is nothing sacred about the Establishment, ladies and gentlemen. Long may it come under critical scrutiny. Long may it stew in its own juice whenever it fails to fulfill its purpose, which is to provide us with life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

What better purpose could Independence Day serve than to remind us that this is how it all began in 1776 and should be continuing in 1967.

After The Oratory!

The Coming Auto-Labor War

By Victor Riesel

DETROIT—There are men here — and they do not count themselves greybeards — who recall when union brother fought union brother with metal chains and iron bars and in last resort hammered away with their fists. They moved on each other in long auto caravans and disciplined platoon-sized gangs.

They fought for jurisdiction over skilled jobs in the big factories here and up the line in city after city. It may come to this again soon enough.

This is the story to watch Victor Riesel as Walter Reuther and the automobile company executives on or about July 10 begin their triennial ritual when they run the gamut and the gauntlet before the TV cameras and begin formal renegotiations of contracts which expire Sept. 6.

There will be a long siege and splashing headlines and much shuffling between this city and the national capital. Eloquently, Reuther will denounce the corporate leaders in the class struggle vituperation that everyone expects. That's tradition. He will demand much. That's tradition.

But the key phrase in the key issue in all the jousting with the corporate men who have developed a new eloquence of their own will be something new to the public. Mark it well. It's "contracting out."

BEFORE THE FINAL struggle is over late this year, Reuther and his colleagues will make that phrase as famous a household word as their "guaranteed annual wage."

"Contracting out" merely is the corporate practice of calling in outside contractors to supply skilled labor for some task such as carpentering, electrical work, honing up some machines or building some new structures. The outsiders are union men. But they don't belong to Reuther's United Auto Workers. They are members of the AFL-CIO building and construction trades unions whose leaders Reuther has been berating for years.

Now, says Reuther, who is co-chairman of the UAW's Skilled Trades Dept. (some 200,000 strong), this must stop if there are auto union men available and willing to do the work inside the plant. This involves tens of thousands of jobs and hundreds of millions of dollars.

The companies have said, in effect, that contracting out really is no business of the auto union. It's a management right, the executives argue.

BUT THE FEDERAL COURTS have ruled that the companies must bargain with the auto union over such practices — call it contracting out or sub-contracting. This decision came down last February in a case involving General Motors' effort to change operations at its South Gate, Calif., plant. A shift in operations affected six jobs. The men were given other work. But the union sued, saying that the company had to negotiate with it anyway merely on principle — even if no one was laid off at the moment. And the union won.

So Reuther and his colleagues will go into negotiations soon and demand that before there is contracting out, the work must be offered to UAW men who are on layoff, on shorter hours or have not been offered the work.

There are other demands involving sub-contracting. But essentially the union wants control of the work and the jobs. The new technology and "computerology," says the auto union, is wiping out jobs and what is left should go to the auto union members.

And the UAW wants a joint labor-management committee to decide such issues. Furthermore, the union demands that future contracts shall give the UAW skilled tradesmen the "right to strike" when necessary to enforce their position on contracting out.

MANAGEMENT IS NOT about to dash out to buy pens for the signing of such a pact. The companies know they will have to give skilled workers a bigger raise than the other hourly rated employees. This will make it more costly to repair and extend or maintain plants. And it will be more and more desirable to put in new automation and computer operation — as well as to contract out.

Eventually there will be a showdown. The companies will insist on their rights to bring in contractors. The auto union skilled workers are of such a mood they will picket.

The outside construction trades unionists, who have the Teamsters with them, aren't often deterred by "enemy" picket lines. It will be a noisy show.

But it is coming. Just look behind the rhetoric.

RAYMOND MOLEY

Armies Without Generals

In 1945 when New York's Mayor LaGuardia was nearing the end of his third and final term of office, he conceived the idea that he wanted to be a professor of municipal government at Columbia University.

He spoke to a friend on the board of trustees, who in turn consulted the chairman of the board. That gentleman exclaimed that any suggestion emanating from the trustees about an appointment of a professor would raise a public protest and come to nothing.

The trustee asked me to "sound out" the professors in the department about a LaGuardia appointment. I reported to the trustee that the appointment was unthinkable.

I tell this story now (the main participants are all dead) to illustrate the relations which existed between the trustees and the faculty.

Nearly three decades before, Columbia's President Nicholas Murray Butler and the trustees had dismissed three members of the faculty. In protest, Prof. Charles A. Beard resigned. After that, the frightened trustees renounced any voice in appointments or promotions, and Butler generally followed faculty recommendations.

In many other aspects of university administration the trustees and administrative officers of Columbia and of most other great private universities, have pursued a policy that rejected any suggestion of leadership.

Faculty control was regarded as substantially complete. It has been said that administrative officers were relegated to the tasks of bringing in cash and cutting grass.

Columbia has little grass to cut, and even that has recently been beaten down by the marching feet of demonstrating students. At Columbia, as elsewhere, students have followed the lead of faculties in demanding less authority in nominal administrative hands.

President Butler, who reigned supreme at Columbia for more than 30 years, not only made university policy and maintained order but brought in the cash. In the final years of his 42-year presidency, failing vitality reduced him to nominal leadership. After his resignation, there was an interim president for three years.

Then the trustees selected Dwight D. Eisenhower, believing that with the great prestige of the general the purse strings of donors would be loosened.

But the general looked upon his new office as a quiet place for retirement and rejected any suggestions that the president of a university should raise money.

His ties to the military first took him off to Washington for advisory services and later to Paris as head of NATO. Then there followed Grayson Kirk, who has served as president of Columbia until now.

A succession of weak administrations has brought Columbia to critical straits, and recently President Kirk completely revised his administrative machinery and personnel.

There is something grossly inconsistent in this movement among faculties and students. In the same breath they protest against authority in the name of freedom and at the same time have nothing to offer as a substitute.

It is difficult to see how any institution can get money for expansion, maintain order and discipline and provide educational leadership if denied competent and forceful administrative personnel.

Faculties as well as students should realize that much of what they are demanding is too high a price to pay for what they call freedom.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Castro's Orders

Was the annexation of Jerusalem by Israel an error in tactics or a shrewd move designed to give the Israelis a better bargaining position when peace negotiations eventually begin?

The answer depends on what is meant by "cease-fire."

There were no hostilities involved in rearranging the governmental structure of Jerusalem by transferring it from military to civilian rule. Certainly there was no violation of the "cease-fire" resolution, which itself did not provide for any withdrawal from territory seized in the war.

Since the fighting stopped, the Soviet Union has sent more arms to Egypt. This is called "face-saving gesture" intended to appease Arab opinion.

Some 150 MIG fighters have arrived in Egypt in the last two weeks, and Moscow is reported planning to give Nasser additional weapons to replace what he lost.

MAKING PEACE in the Middle East will take a long time, and Israel isn't going to wait for treaties before starting to supervise and govern areas taken by its troops, especially if Moscow's military buildup of Egypt indicates a threat of possible resumption of warfare.

It is logical for the Israeli government to argue that it must exercise its authority over the territory it has taken from the Arabs until permanent changes are agreed upon.

It is not unusual for a victorious army to set up administration and protection of areas acquired in battle so no sudden resumption of the war can take away what has been gained.

President Johnson was obliged to state publicly that there should be "appropriate consultation" between religious groups before a final decision is made.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union are bound to play an influential role when peace negotiations start.

While the two adversaries ultimately will be talking to each other and trying to reach a settlement, Moscow and Washington will be giving advice that is not likely to be rejected.

Economic factors will play an important part in the settlement on territorial questions.

At the moment there is a disposition to emphasize the importance of giving priority to measures of relief for persons displaced in the war. It is recognized also that steps must be taken to clarify the status of both the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal. This subject will require lots of study. There will have to be agreement by the major powers before either the Arab or Israeli governments will be asked to concur.

LITTLE BY little, information is emerging as to what happened in the two conferences between Soviet Premier Kosygin and President Johnson.

Dispatches from London and Moscow as well as from Havana reveal that President Johnson was told about Mr. Kosygin's prospective trip to Cuba long before the news was made public. The United States is deeply concerned about the activities of Fidel Castro in Latin America, and so is the Soviet government.

Premier Kosygin was instructed by the Kremlin to tell Castro not to complicate matters by stirring up trouble.

The Soviets are not abandoning their strategy of meddling in the political affairs of countries in Central and South America, but they don't want Castro to run the show and perhaps aggravate the situation at the very time when settlement of the Middle East war demands understanding between Moscow and Washington.

The Kosygin-Johnson conference was conducted on an amicable basis and conceivably could bring constructive results.

But the Kosygin trip to Cuba is a reminder that Communist infiltration in this hemisphere and the consequences of the Israeli victory in the Middle East have not yet been fully appraised, nor a method agreed upon to solve the problems that have arisen.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Tom Mix, famous cowboy star, arrived here to perform at Columbian Park between performances of his three-ring circus.

Eddie McGraw's 11-piece dance orchestra, made up of musicians from East Liverpool, Midland, Beaver and Weirton, concluded a six-week engagement at Genesee, N. Y.

The annual reunion of the Jones family was held at the home of Earl Cronin of Ohio Avenue. William N. Jones was elected president.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Francis Vallera was crowned king and Adah May Duke and Sally Snediker queens at the annual firemen's parade in Wellsville.

Grace Seckman of Dixonville attended the first national assembly of the Westminster Fellowship at Grinnell College, Ia.

Richard Neitz of Wellsville returned from a tour of Yellowstone National Park. He was a passenger on a bus which was wrecked during a snowstorm, but escaped with only bruises.

TEN YEARS AGO — Jack Dopier, East Liverpool High's three sports star, entered the Military Academy after receiving his appointment from Rep. Wayne L. Hays of the 18th Congressional District.

The 35th annual camp meeting of Rochester District Free Methodists began at the Anderson Blvd. campgrounds, with the Rev. W. M. Cowser of East Liverpool, superintendent, in charge.

Camp Program Advanced At Meeting Of Trustees

Kai Kipgen from India, who will be working this summer at the Beaver Creek United Presbyterian Camp as a summer missionary and craft director, was introduced at a trustees' meeting Saturday at the camp site at Grimms Bridge.

Mrs. Phyllis Conley of East Liverpool, secretary, reported 382 campers registered to date, with two camps completely filled.

The water has been tested and found safe for drinking by the Columbiana County Health Department, it was announced.

The Rev. James Hobson of East Liverpool, co-chairman of the program committee, reported a phonograph, slide projector and screen have been purchased from donated funds. About 30 counselors are still needed, he said.

A discussion was held on the Canadian canoe trip for the Senior High group to be led by the Rev. Robert Palisin of Homeworth. Charles Findling of Youngstown is to confer with Rev. Palisin on details. New tee shirts available for purchase for the campers were displayed by Findling.

Robert Hummer of Girard, chairman of the board, presided. The Rev. Hobson led in prayer.

The summer evaluation meeting was set for Sept. 16 at 1 p.m. at the camp. The Christian Education committees of Steubenville and Mahoning Presbyteries will be invited.

The closing prayer was given by Hummer. Homemade ice cream was served to the trustees by the Rev. Roger Bush of Richmond and Kipgen.

Rhodes Signs $4.9 Billion Budget Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has signed a $4.9 billion appropriations measure to run the state for the next two years.

He approved that measure and several other bills immediately upon his return late Sunday from a governors' conference at Jackson Hole, Wyo.

The newly signed laws: Appropriate $3.5 million from the gasoline excise tax fund balance to repay eight major cities for maintenance and lighting of freeways within their borders.

Increase maximum student loans for graduate and professional students from $1,000 to $1,500 and provide 90 per cent state guarantees instead of the present 80 per cent.

Transfer nearly 328 acres of Toledo State Hospital land to the University of Toledo College of Medicine.

Apply original commitment procedures for returning a mental patient who refuses to submit to examinations.

Reduce the maximum number of members for municipal councils from 32 to 17.

Give county commissioners broader authority under alternative forms of county government now limited to selective or appointive systems.

Provide for probate court hearing for persons suspected of having communicable tuberculosis in such person's absence.

Pope Suspends Bishop's Powers At Pittsburgh

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has suspended the powers of Catholic Ruthenian rite Bishop Nicholas T. Elko of Pittsburgh by naming an apostolic administrator to direct the sprawling diocese.

The Vatican announced the appointment today a few hours after Bishop Elko, 57-year-old Illinoisan who is under Church investigation, was received in audience by Pope Paul.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Rosack, Bishop Elko's vicar general, was named the apostolic administrator.

Bishop Elko has been in Rome more than six months explaining his case and awaiting Vatican action after 5 of his 148 Byzantine priests complained about the way he was running his diocese.

Bishop Elko said he was unable to talk about his audience with the pontiff, about his case or about when he might return home. He said he could allow no interview.

CB'ers Visit Canada Event

An exchange of Ohio and Canadian flags marked a visit of 13 members of the Borderline REACT team to a Canadian General Radio Association campout Saturday and Sunday in Ontario.

Harry Watkins of W. 4th St., president of the REACT unit, headed the group which included Darlene Manypenny, president, and members of the Borderline Junior REACT team.

The event was held at Tillsonburg where thousands of Canadian GRA and American Citizens Band enthusiasts took part in the program and parade.

Mrs. Bonnie Manypenny of 1707 Wooster Ave. and Watkins exchanged flags with Gerald Inch of St. Thomas, Ont., campout chairman. The Ohio flag was obtained through Rep. Wayne Fays, 18th District Congressman. The Canadian flag was a centennial flag.

On behalf of the GRA of St. Thomas, Inch presented Mrs. Manypenny a Canadian provincial flag Sunday.

National Guard Change Revealed By Gov. Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 37th National Guard Infantry Brigade will replace Ohio's 37th Infantry Division, according to a letter received Monday by Gov. James A. Rhodes from Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

The replacement is part of a national realignment of National Guard and reserve forces.

Rhodes said he was advised that the brigade will retain "the colors, history and traditions" of the division.

The division had nearly 16,000 men equipped at a 50 per cent level of full wartime strength. Under the realignment, the brigade will have about 3,000 men, according to Adjutant Gen. Erwin C. Hostetler.

Hostetler said Ohio would have about 15,000 Guardsmen statewide including those now classed as nondivisional and assigned to units other than the 37th. The 15,000 would be at 90 per cent of full wartime strength, Hostetler said.

The defense secretary's letter was a result of a protest by Rhodes against a proposed realignment to deprive Ohio of one of its most famous troop units.

Ohioan Waiting Trial Commits Suicide In Jail

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Charles J. Keller, 34, Pomeroy, waiting trial here in the shooting death of his wife, committed suicide Monday in the Athens County jail.

Keller's body was found hanging from a light fixture shortly before noon and deputy coroner L. A. Hamilton ruled he ended his own life by hanging. A belt was used, Hamilton said.

Keller was indicted by the May grand jury on a charge of first degree murder in the death of his wife, Evelyn, 20, at her parents' home at nearby Albany on March 19.

Psychiatric examination at Lima State Hospital and a subsequent sanity hearing in Athens resulted in a decision he was sane and able to stand trial. The trial was to have started July 17.

Sheriff Reports On June Activity

LISBON — The Columbiana County Jail booked 71 prisoners in June in addition to the 34 confined as of June 1, Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan reports. Seventy-one prisoners were released last month. Five were taken to state institutions. Four mental patients were conveyed to state hospitals.

Jail cooks served 3,173 meals last month at a total cost of $1,406.47. The sheriff said the average daily food cost per prisoner was $1.32. There were 244 visitors at the jail in June.

The sheriff said deputies served 301 papers and handled 4,114 radio transmissions and 1,413 telephone calls. His office in the Courthouse accepted 28 sets of fox feet and ears for the $3 bounty. Fees totaling $1,218 were collected.

Lake Central Airlines Asks For 3 Routes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lake Central Airlines, Indianapolis, asked the Civil Aeronautics Board Monday for three routes to New York City-Newark, N.J. One would extend from Indianapolis to New York by way of Dayton, Ohio.

Another would be from Louisville, Ky., by way of Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio, and the third would be from Chicago by way of Toledo, Akron-Canton and Youngstown, Ohio.

Posters Reveal Bloody Clashes In China Areas

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese correspondents in Peking reported today after a two-week self-imposed blackout that wall posters told of bloody clashes in wide areas of Red China.

The dispatches added another question mark to a weekend claim by the theoretical journal Red Flag that the "top person in authority taking the capitalist road" had been overthrown meaning President Liu Shao-chi.

Informed quarters in Tokyo are inclined to believe that Liu, the arch enemy of party chairman Mao Tse-tung, has not yet been stripped of the presidency. Japanese correspondents in Peking predicted it would take a long time for Mao and his supporters to establish complete control over all China's vast mainland, with Liu backers entrenched in party and government machinery in the provinces.

Building Permits Drop To $18,980

Mayor George E. Willshaw's office issued 17 building permits in June, authorizing new construction and remodeling estimated to cost $18,980.

The June permits were off $3,780 from the $22,760 listed in May. No major projects were undertaken last month. Virtually all of the permits cover remodeling and renovation work. Five tear-down permits also were issued for razing existing structures.

June was the first month in which zoning permits were required prior to issuance of the usual city building permit. The mayor pointed out that in most instances the applicant first must get approval from the zoning inspector and then file the request for a building permit.

HERE IS a list of the June permits, with the persons to whom they were issued, the work contemplated and the estimated cost of each job:

- Lawrence R. Allison, to erect a two-car garage at 795 Ohio Ave., $2,000.
- Stanley Kidder, to build a two-car garage at 2112 Michigan Ave., $1,500.
- Mrs. Glenn Clark, to build a new porch on a home at 855 Fairview St., $350.
- George Anderson, to build a series of garages at 1006-1008 Monaca St., $5,000.
- George E. Willshaw, to place siding on a home at 1713 Idaho Ave., $1,500.
- Lou Defazzo, for Peter Pan Cleaners, to panel interior walls of a store building at E. 6th and Market Sts., $400.
- Amos Rayle, to remodel the interior of a building at 309 E. 3rd St., $700.
- Thomas Muschweck, to erect a three-car garage on Lemon St., Beechwood, $1,200.
- Callie Knight, to install a new porch and a new garage door at 919 Lisbon St., $2,000.
- Collin Neal, to install a concrete walk and other improvements at 1801 Anderson Blvd., $80.

Car Damaged As Bus Backs

A halted car was damaged Monday afternoon when struck by a backing bus on Mulberry St. about 25 feet north of St. George St., police reported.

The collision involved a 1966 model bus operated by William Frank Godlewski, 19, of McKees Rocks, Pa., and a halted 1959 four-door sedan driven by Harry F. Buchholz, 39, of Lisbon R.D. 5.

Godlewski told Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes he did not see the car as he backed. The collision damaged the front of the auto and the rear of the bus, owned by the Excelsior Truck Leasing Service of Philadelphia, officers said. It was timed at 1:33 p.m.

Meanwhile, Grace L. Hunter of 1045 Peake St. told police Monday afternoon the right rear fender of her 1965 model sedan was damaged when struck by a hit-skip car Sunday night or Monday morning while parked on Peake St. about 30 feet south of Jackson St.

Mrs. Hunter reported a witness said he saw an auto strike her car about 7 a.m. Monday and continue without stopping. Police were given a partial description of the hit-skip car.

Reminder Given To Farmers On Aid In Hancock

Mrs. Norman Murray, office manager of the Agricultural Conservation Service, reminded today that federal funds are still available to Hancock County farmers for conservation practices.

They must be "needed practices," she declared, and said farmers may contact the ASCS office to determine which fall into that category.

Some 94 have signed up for the program to date.

Mrs. Murray noted any farmer wishing to carry out a liming practice on wheat or barley ground this fall should come in now and bring a soil sample for testing.

The program will run until Dec. 31. She noted farmers carrying out a crop rotation program or those having meadow or pasture land are eligible for the cost-sharing program.

Funds are provided by the Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Murray pointed out farmers who are participating in the feed, grain and wheat program are reminded they cannot harvest any crops from the acreage diverted this year under the program.

The farmers also are not permitted to use the diverted land for grazing purposes, she added. To do so will result in a penalty.

Members of the county ASCS committee are Carl Allison of Gas Valley Rd., chairman; Shields Mayhew of Pughtown, vice chairman, and Plummer Smith of Pughtown.

West Virginia Traffic Toll Mounts To 10

By The Associated Press

West Virginia's toll of accident deaths for the Fourth of July period stood at 10 Monday with the holiday itself still ahead. Traffic accidents killed six persons and four drowned.

The highway fatalities raised the state's traffic death toll this year to 215, compared with 230 killed to the same date last year.

Traffic accidents killed three persons Saturday and three Sunday.

Drowning victims included three persons who fell from boats while fishing Sunday. Another drowning victim was the driver of a truck which overturned into the Tug River in Mingo County Saturday night. The truck was operating on a private road and the death was not counted as a traffic fatality.

Latest reported highway victims were:

Donna Joanne Miller, 30, of Glenville, killed in a two-car collision Sunday night four miles east of Grantsville on W. Va. 5. Four other persons were injured.

Mrs. Richard S. Stafiej of Laurel, Md., killed in a one-car crash Sunday afternoon about eight miles south of Moorefield on U.S. 220. Her husband was hospitalized in Petersburg, State Police said the Stafiej's car skidded on the wet highway and struck a tree.

Captain Finishes 22-Week-Course

Capt. James E. Lombard, son of Eugene Lombard Jr. of Hookstown R.D. 1, has completed a 22-week medical officer career course at the Brooke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Instruction included organization and administration of medical units, command and staff procedures, hospital management and courses in field medicine and surgery.

Capt. Lombard received his commission through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program at Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa., where he received a B.A. degree in 1960.

His wife Carol resides in San Antonio, Tex.

Cement Firm Makes Tender Stock Offer

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of Penn-Dixie Cement Corp. have made a tender offer for all outstanding common and convertible preferred shares of Hausman Steel Corp. of Toledo, Ohio.

Penn-Dixie says it will pay $21.50 a share for each type of stock. This would amount to a total price of more than $4.5 million if all outstanding shares are tendered, Penn-Dixie president Robert T. LeVine said Monday.

He said there are currently 172,160 shares of Hausman common, and 40,000 shares of convertible preferred outstanding.

Hausman fabricates steel bars and forms and makes chemicals used on construction.

Girl Injured In Home Fall

A city girl hurt in a fall Monday was in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital, where six other area residents were treated.

Paula Springer, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Edgell of 318 Rural Ln., sustained a fracture of the left foot in a fall over a foot stool at home.

Treated Monday were Vito Weeda, son of Mrs. Connie Weeda of 1509 Clark Ave., Wellsville, employed at the Westco Manufacturing Co., a laceration of the arm on metal while working in a machine shop; Nancy Useton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Useton of 311 Beleck St., a fracture of the left arm on a metal post.

John Burda of 515 Florida Ave., Chester, a right ankle injury while walking, Kirk Cook of Woodbine Ave., a laceration of the right hand on a rusty nail.

Harriet M. Hanotes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hanotes of 211 Thompson Ave., a left foot injury on a rope in a yard at home; Debbie Schell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schell of 937 Dresden Ave., abrasions and contusions of the left lower leg when kicked by a horse.

'Queens' Feted By Fitness Club At Park Outing

Queens for the month and the year were recognized during a catered picnic held Thursday by the Tri-State Women's Physical Fitness Club at Valley Park.

Named queens for the month were Mrs. Becky Jackson, most weight lost, and Mrs. Ginger Hasson, most inches lost. They received baskets of fruit and roses.

Mrs. Donna Hanlon, most weight lost, and Mrs. Bonnie Calhoun, most inches lost, were named the year's queens. They were given charm disks and bouquets of pink carnations. The "year" time limit was from September until June.

Mrs. Jean Smith, president, presented gifts to other officers, weigh-in officials and the exercise leaders. She received a dish garden from the club members. Mrs. Beverly Jackson and Mrs. Becky Jackson, exercise leaders, received "prayer plants" in recognition of their work.

Mrs. Smith announced the club will resume meetings Sept. 11 at the Potters Savings Loan Co. annex in the St. Clair plaza. Officers will be elected.

Hancock County Man Cited For Store Theft

A 25-year-old Hancock County man was jailed on a shoplifting charge Monday afternoon after he allegedly fled from an E. 5th St. store with a pair of trousers valued at $5.95, police reported.

Edward House of New Cumberland R.D. 3 was taken into custody at 2:59 p.m. in a newsstand less than a block away on a charge he stole the trousers at the J. C. Penney Co., police said. Clair Unrue, an employee of Penney's, pointed out House to Patrolman Karl W. Samples, who took him into custody, assisted by Patrolman Orin C. Smith.

Unrue said he found House had stuffed the merchandise inside his trousers while in the Penney Co. Unrue told House to "come with me to see the manager," but House shoved Unrue and fled out a door, Unrue told police.

Chief Subject May Be Cigarettes

Regulation Of Industry To Stir Hot Controversy

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Federal regulation of industry is going to provide some of the hottest national controversies for many months to come and could lead even to a new look at the regulatory agencies themselves.

The chief subject will probably be cigarettes, but the implications will go much farther and include many industries. That much has been assured by two recent events.

First, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has proposed that radio and television stations balance cigarette commercials with public service announcements warning of the dangers of smoking.

Second, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has found the health-hazard warning sign on cigarette packages to be ineffective and has recommended to Congress that the message be made to sound more deadly by adding "may cause death from cancer and other diseases."

These two actions, though important, are merely like ripples that later could become waves. That, at least, is the immediate reaction of some businessmen in advertising, communications and tobacco who have felt the first shock waves.

First, they ask, if radio and television are to state the other side of the cigarette story—the one that features bed-ridden cancer patients instead of playful young men and women—who is to determine what is a "reasonable" number of announcements?

At stake in such a decision would be the rights and good health of Americans, the rights of broadcasters, the rights of cigarette manufacturers and the rights of the federal government.

The second decision, by the FTC, indicates that cigarettes do cause death by cancer and other diseases, a finding that the cigarette industry still does not concede as factual.

This decision opens the possibility, critics say, that an endless assortment of products, some of which have not yet been invented, may be required to carry warnings that will dampen consumer enthusiasm.

Such problems as these cannot be worked out without fireworks, and so the sparks will fly in testimony and court cases before resolutions are achieved. But understandings and compromises have been achieved in numerous previous cases.

In previous years, other in-tory spotlight, among them railroads before the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC), the stock market before the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), utilities under the Federal Power Commission (FPC) and corporate mergers probed by the Justice Department.

Americans cannot ignore the fact that these agencies were set up for the very purpose of keeping business practices within certain limits and that, legally and morally, they have an obligation to act in the public good.

Johnson Signs Borrowing Bill For Executives

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson signed today a bill increasing the amount of money an executive of a member bank of the Federal Reserve System may borrow from his employer.

Under the new law, executives may borrow up to $5,000 for unspecified purposes, up to $10,000 to finance the education of a child, and up to $30,000 as a first mortgage on a home.

The present limit for all purposes is $2,500.

The same law will allow federal credit unions to loan up to $5,000 to their own directors and members of their credit and supervisory committees.

In the past, those officers have been limited on their personal borrowing to the value of their shares in the credit union, plus the value of the shares of fellow members who agreed to pledge them as security for the officer's loan.

Few Expect Important Changes

U.S. Agencies To Work Under New Act Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal agencies begin working Tuesday under a new Freedom of Information Act but few of them expect important changes in the way they disclose public records.

Despite this consensus among administrators, congressional supporters of the law say they will make sure it is observed.

The man who sponsored the measure in the House—Rep. John Moss, D-Calif.—says the final verdict will be handed down by John Q. Public.

Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., Senate sponsor of the bill, said he is "sure that there are bureaucrats who are going to hang on to their secrecy until the bitter end."

But, Long added, "we've worked far too long and hard on this law to see it mangled by federal red tape."

One agency official, questioned in an Associated Press survey to see how the new law will change procedures, replied:

"I don't see three cents worth of difference."

Several other administrators said they think the law is confusing and open to different interpretations. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said "definitive answers may have to await court rulings."

The law provides that any citizen may see any government document in the files—but lists nine categories of materials which are exempt from this stipulation. These range from defense secrets to inter-agency memos to files which, if made public, would invade an individual's privacy.

As for files not exempt under the new law, many agencies said in the AP survey that they have been making them available to the public all along.

A typical comment in this regard came from George Christian, the White House press secretary, who said: "We give you everything that isn't classified."

Several agencies have or plan to set up public reading rooms where documents would be available for inspection.

Northeast Ohio Blue Cross Gives Medicare Report

CLEVELAND (AP) — Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio reported Monday that in the first year of Medicare it paid $33,055,914 for 103,168 Medicare claims in 12 northeast Ohio counties.

"Our experience in the first year confirms our earlier conviction that Medicare would not bring on any substantial increase in the use of health care facilities," said Vernon R. Burt, executive vice president.

"The figures indicate that Medicare's greatest impact on senior citizens in this area has been in changing the method of paying for their health care," Burt said actual use of Medicare benefits came close to original estimates, with inpatient claims averaging 1,300 to 1,400 a week, compared to an anticipated rate of 1,500. Out-patient claims ran somewhat higher than expected.

Sixty hospitals received $31,347,071 from Blue Cross for 96,052 claims, a breakdown by Burt showed.

Record Ohio Revenue Reported For Fiscal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio had record revenue of $2.25 billion in the fiscal year ended midnight last Friday, the treasurer's and auditor's office said Monday in a joint statement.

The statement said the figure represented a $35 million increase over fiscal 1966. During the past year, the state realized total revenues of $175 million from the sale of notes and bonds for highways and other public improvements — critical to the preceding fiscal year, the announcement said.

Ohio Father Of Two Killed In Viet War

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Word has been received here of the death in Vietnam of Army Sgt. Jackie Gayle Stanley, 24, of Middletown, father of two children.

Stanley and his wife, Ann, had been divorced and remarried only on June 5 at Honolulu.

He is the first actual resident of Middletown to be killed in Vietnam although several living nearby have died.

Chagrin Falls Resident, James Lang Are Married

Miss Marilyn Francis Hosken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hosken of Chagrin Falls, became the bride of James Richard Lang, son of Atty. and Mrs. Francis H. Lang of Highland Colony, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Garfield Memorial Methodist Church of Chagrin Falls.

The Rev. George Parsons officiated for the single - ring ceremony before an altar background of ferns and arrangements of daisies, white gladioli and stephanotis.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Sue Porter of Cuyahoga Falls, played a half - hour recital of organ music. Miss Julie Bethel of Massillon sang.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length Empire - style gown of white chiffon over taffeta, with a bodice and pointed, wrist-length sleeves of Alencon lace. The controlled skirt featured a removable train of chiffon and lace.

The bride designed and made her dress and crown of lace and pearls, with attached veil of illusion. She wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a cascade of Shasta daisies and baby breath, centered with a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. David Thompson of Pittsburgh, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Kande Baldensperger of Warren bridesmaid. They appeared in ankle - length Empire - style gowns of Nile green chiffon over taffeta fashioned with floating back panels. They carried baskets of white daisies.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hosken chose a yellow dynasty crepe dress. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a dawn pink silk suit. Both had cibotium orchid corsages to match their attire.

Atty. Charles B. Lang served as his brother's best man. Ushers were John C. Hosken, brother of the bride, and Roger Dixon.

After a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church, the newlyweds left for Chicago, where the bridegroom is enrolled in the Elkins Radio Engineering School.

THE BRIDE was graduated magna cum laude in June from Mt. Union College. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority, Pi Kappa Delta, Forensic honor society, and the following scholastic honoraries, Alpha Lambda Delta, Owens and Psi Kappa Omega. She plans to teach in the local school system.

Lang is an alumnus of East Liverpool High School and Culver Military Academy summer schools. He was graduated in June from Mt. Union College, where he was a member of the Mt. Union Players, the student senate and a co-founder and manager of the college radio station WRMU. He is affiliated with Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, honorary music fraternity, and Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatic fraternity.

They were members of the Mt. Union College Choir, which toured the world in the summer of 1966.

After Aug. 1, the newlyweds will reside in East Liverpool, where Lang will be associated with WOHI radio station.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lang entertained for the rehearsal dinner party at the Lion and Lamb Inn of Pepper Pike. Arrangements of giant African daisies, white delphinium, yellow button chrysanthemums and gold - stamped white China bells decorated the table. Favors were small China trays, inscribed in gold with the names of the bridal couple and the wedding date, and holding a single small African daisy.

Included in the guest list along with the wedding party were the relatives of the bride and bridegroom. The engaged couple presented gifts to the attendants.

the return of Dan Myers, president; Don Lewis and Jack Beck, district lieutenant governor, who attended the international convention last week at Houston, Tex.

Vietnam

neither has he moved into ours." AP correspondent Steve Stibbens reported from Con Thien there were no ground clashes Monday but that artillery and mortar shells had fallen on the Marine post intermittently throughout the day. He said mortar fire was directed at helicopters each time they came in for landings at Con Thien, but there were no reports of aircraft losses.

A Marine spokesman at Da Nang said 58 Marines were killed, 34 were missing and 125 were wounded in the engagement Sunday a mile northeast of Con Thien and almost at the end of a barrier line cut inland from the South China Sea coast in an effort to hamper infiltration.

One Marine sergeant on the battle scene said: "Last night's missing Marines became today's dead ones."

One Marine company was hit so hard by the North Vietnamese force, estimated as a regiment of 2,500 to 3,000 men, that it had to be pulled out of the battleground. It was believed the unit was cut into three segments by the swarming North Vietnamese troops, and that most of the men listed as missing were members of the splintered company.

A Marine spokesman said 86 North Vietnamese dead were counted after the battle, but reports from the field said Marine officers expressed belief the toll was considerably higher as a result of air strikes and artillery barrages.

Action erupted at several points in the northern sector of the country Sunday night and early Monday, including the heavy shelling of the U.S. Marine base at Dong Ha and other installations at nearby Gio Linh, and the ambush of a 100-truck South Vietnamese military convoy on Highway No. 1 as it moved from Da Nang to Phu Bai.

The ambushers destroyed 20 trucks and damaged 14 others. First reports said 4 South Vietnamese soldiers had been killed and 30 others wounded.

U.S. Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers and armed helicopters pounded the 300 enemy troops, allowing the rest of the convoy to pull back the 20 miles to Da Nang. Sixty-eight trucks made it back.

A reaction force of South Vietnamese infantrymen was sent to the area, and by nightfall fighting was reported still going on.

The convoy was carrying food supplies from Da Nang to Hue. There were some American military advisers with the convoy, but none was wounded.

Fighting also flared along the coast about 300 miles north of Saigon, where elements of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division had been clashing with enemy troops for nearly a week.

There were no details on Monday's action as the cavalrymen continued Operation Pershing, but they reported killing 75 enemy troops in a nine-hour fight Sunday. U.S. losses were listed as 19 men killed and 33 wounded.

As ground action picked up, U.S. pilots flew 499 tactical air sorties over South Vietnam Sunday, with 214 of them in direct support of troop operations.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. fliers carried out 114 strike missions Sunday, hitting at railway facilities, storage areas and a surface-to-air missile site. Three U.S. planes were lost during the raids. The pilots of two were rescued, but the third was listed as missing.

Can't Stand To See People Afraid

Meredith Will Be Glad To See End Of His Walk

By JOHN S. LANGO

PICKENS, Miss. (AP) —

Weary and glum, James H. Meredith said Monday he will be glad to see the end of his symbolic walk across Mississippi "because I just can't stand to see my people so afraid."

Meredith, 34, a controversial civil rights figure in Mississippi, expects to end his long "walk against fear" along U.S. 51 in Canton Tuesday.

He started 10 days and 143 miles ago near Hernando, stopping at little towns along the route to make brief talks to Negro residents. Everything was relatively uncompanied until he arrived in Pickens, 18 miles north of Canton, at noon and was temporarily barred from a Negro church.

When Meredith first entered the church, two Negro deacons backed by the white marshal of Pickens ordered him outside.

Minutes later, he was allowed to re-enter when the chief steward of Lee's Chapel Methodist Church, J.H. Hoover, arrived and over-ruled the two deacons. "Ain't no harm in it," said Hoover. "He's walked all these miles to help us."

Meredith, standing at the pulpit, told the crowded church later that the incident illuminated the Negroes' living fear of opposing whites in Mississippi.

"I knew you were afraid when I hit town and your young men wouldn't wave back at me with white folks looking at them. When I got to the church, I was sitting right here, busy trying to attend to my feet, and I looked up and those colored folks and white folks were standing there with a gun on their hip."

Negroes in the church sat silent. Some turned to look at town marshal Henry Slaton, who sat in a corner at the rear of the white frame church, a revolver strapped to his waist in a worn leather holster.

Meredith snorted: "Well, here I am. And everybody in Pickens now knows that you don't always win because you have white folks with you."

After the meeting, groups of Negro men stood in clusters at the end of town, talking about the deacons. One said: "We'll take care of those two, and we'll do it quick. We got to set an example."

Marshal Slaton said the deacons had called him to the church and "I went down there to keep them from having a racket. Actually, I don't give a damn."

Meredith resumed his walk, followed by some 15 supporters. But with 20 miles to go it was apparent he could not arrive in Canton by nightfall. He walked slowly, stepping carefully on aching, blistered feet.

Meredith's message — to Negroes who approached to shake his hand when he stopped, to his followers, to church meetings — is that Negroes must "learn to live with dignity and refuse to knuckle under to white supremacy."

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Monday dismissed affidavits in which Robert Mercer, 22, and Gloria Mercer, 18, both of 1056 Mapletree St., were charged with disorderly conduct by fighting. The husband and wife both were injured in a domestic fracas at their home Sunday night, police reported.

2 Masked Riders Relive Wild West

TYRONE, N. M. — Days of the wild west were relived when two masked horsemen halted their mounts on the new Burro Mountain - to - Tyrone spur railroad line. They were attempting to slow a train which carried a passenger car.

The horsemen fired their guns into the air and one of them boarded the passenger car and accosted the startled passengers.

The gunman strode up to Bernard Ponnosa, of New York City, general traffic manager for Phelps Dodge. Instead of demanding the man's watch and other valuables, he extended a scroll which read:

"Welcome to Grant County." Phelps Dodge owns the spur right-of-way. Last March 1 it completed construction of a 11½-mile line connecting with the main Santa Fe Railway line into Grant county with Tyrone. At Tyrone, Phelps Dodge is in the process of reopening a copper mine as an open pit operation at an estimated $100 million cost.

The mounted gunmen were area ranchers Jack Hamilton and Jerry Billings. They said they thought up the holdup, scheme "on the spur of the moment."

WHEN PARENTS of teen-agers wish they had two separate houses, instead of just separate baths, they might think about Homes for Americans plan HA494P. It is designed for two generations, under one roof. The main floor is "split down the middle" between formal and informal zones. The adult entertaining area is composed of a spacious living room, dining room and two-story-high reception foyer. Another entrance, with its own foyer and closets, gives access to the kitchen and family room. A second staircase here gives access to the basement and youngsters' bedrooms, which results in carrying out the first-floor zoning on the second floor. This design is by Samuel Paul, 89-30 161 St., Jamaica, N.Y., and has 1,768 square feet on the first floor, 1,330 square feet on the second.

'His' And 'Hers' Den

Bookcase Serves As Divider In Unique Plan

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Husband and wife can share a den, so that each has privacy, points out a housewife.

"My husband wanted a nice quiet place where he could read, write and paint occasionally, and I wanted a place where I could sew and spread out patterns. We solved it by dividing a large room in two with a bookcase. The books provide insulation; my husband has privacy, and even the sewing machine humming doesn't bother him." She noticed that they seldom use the room at the same time.

The "her" side of the bookcase was covered with a cork material. She uses it for pinning patterns and from pegs fastened to it, she hangs tape measure, scissors, spools of thread. Everything is handy.

When dividing a room for this purpose, be sure that each person gets a share of light. If there are two windows, make a division so that each can have a window. Draw it on paper until you get the most advantageous arrangement.

IS THERE a solution to floors that are badly marred, scratched and shrunken so that boards do not meet?

One family tried everything, trying to avoid putting down new floors, but they find "shoddy floors do furniture an injustice."

Many people put down heavy wall-to-wall carpet, a practical and less costly solution than any other for problem floors.

Many decorators consider wall-to-wall carpet tasteless but they use it in such circumstances. It is a particularly good solution to the floor problems in the bedroom area of a house as it provides some insulation.

"Is there a way to decorate so that the floor registers can be hidden or made to seem less unsightly?" asks a homemaker.

In newer houses, they don't bother to hide them. Registers are smaller and are painted the color of carpet or tile. For example — red register, red rug. This blends the register right into the color scheme. Some people paint registers matte black and even white. A black register looks quite good with beige carpet. White must be kept painted.

Be sure to keep the rug out of the way so that register may be covered when heat is off. Investigate whether a smaller-size heat register may be used without sacrificing heat efficiency.

ONE WOMAN encounters the problem of her husband wanting 12-pane windows for their new house.

He's thinking about the beauties of the Colonial look while she's thinking about 240 window panes to wash, she says.

The practical solution to this dilemma is windows with removable muntins. These may be removed for easy cleaning. They are snapped right into the window. These snap-on muntins are making diamond panes again popular.

WHAT DO YOU do about "crummy flush doors" asks an aesthetic housewife.

"The doors have absolutely no personality. They were painted twice and the paint soaked into the wood. They never have the finished look of paneled doors."

Some decorators upholster doors, using leather, imitation leather or handsome fabric. There are patterned or solid papers, vinyls and other coverings that can be used.

The pattern should be determined by the decorating schemes used in the house. Doors in the same area should be kept uniform. If there are busy patterned wallpapers in the room the same paper could be used on the inside of the door but not on the outside. It would be better to stick to a plain pattern in hallways.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—Do you have any suggestions on the cleaning of wallpaper?

A.—One of the easiest ways is with a rubber sponge. Use the sponge dry, and wipe the excess dirt from it with a soft cloth after each stroke across the paper. The soiled sponge is washed with soap and water. Grease spots on the paper may be removed by covering with a mixture of dry starch and carbon tetrachloride. Let dry, then brush off the starch. Rub powdered borax over the spots soiled, but not greasy.

Q.—Is there any way I can make my own putty?

A.—Sifted whiting, mixed with linseed oil to the proper consistency, will do it. Many other such handy hints are included in my new household book.

Q.—How can I keep my kitchen aluminum shiny - looking?

A.—Aluminum will discolor if cleaned with harsh soaps or powders. Instead, use a cloth moistened with lemon juice, rinse with clear water, dry thoroughly, and your aluminum should sparkle.

Q.—How can I make wood more durable and weather-proof?

A.—By covering it with several coats of hot linseed oil varnish.

Q.—How can I remove shoe polish stains from clothing?

A.—Rubbing alcohol usually solves this little problem.

If You're Planning To Paint, These Suggestions Will Help

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The best time to paint the outside of your house is in the spring or the fall.

But thousands of Americans disregard this truism simply because the only available time for this chore is during the summer, especially during the period when the husband or young man of the house is on vacation.

That being the case, it might be well to look into some of the precautions necessary when exterior painting must be done during the hot weather.

First and foremost is the matter of health. It is foolhardy for anyone, young or old, to stand on a ladder on which a summer sun is beating down. But even if that were not a factor, the advice would still be good, because paint dries too quickly when exposed to excessive heat.

Generally, the recommended way to paint the outside of a house is in the old-time "follow the sun" manner. This involves painting the part of the house which the sun has just left and to which it will not return that day.

By doing this, you will be painting a surface which has been thoroughly dried, eliminating the possibility that moisture will be trapped under the paint. And you will be permitting the paint to dry naturally without the unwelcome aid of the sun.

While this method is still advocated, one of the reasons for it no longer exists — if you are using an exterior latex paint.

For such paint an be applied to damp surfaces, an advantage when you can't wait for the morning dew to evaporate.

Summer, spring or fall, good painting results will be achieved only if the surface has been properly prepared.

This means scraping off all loose and peeling paint, sanding uneven spots and filling any openings, especially around doors and window frames, with caulking compound.

Also, once you make up your mind to paint the house, be sure you resolve to paint anything else that can detract from the over-all appearance. This includes off-neglected things like mail boxes and garbage cans.

It also includes door knobs and door knockers, which may be in need of a coat of lacquer and which aren't too conspicuous ordinarily, but which will stand out after the house is painted.

Speedy Repairs Are Advised If Furniture Shows Defects

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

The cardinal principle covering furniture repairs is that you make the repair at once.

As soon as a chair, table or other piece of furniture shows a weakness, it should be taken care of. Delay simply means that the present small defect will magnify, and in all probability get beyond your ability to remedy.

The usual trouble with upholstered chairs is that a rung will become loose, and as soon as this happens the legs lose a major support.

Too great a burden is placed on the remaining rungs, which rapidly loosen in turn. A loose rung is treated by coating the ends which set into the legs with a good glue, setting them back in the holes. Turn a tourniquet around the legs to hold the chair together until the glue sets.

A further remedy is to drive a thin, wire nail through the leg so that it passes through the end of the rung and locks it in place for good.

The usual trouble with upholstered furniture is that the seat sags. As soon as this becomes apparent, and before there is any necessity of retieing the springs or completely rewebbing the bottom of the chair, a piece of 1/4-inch plywood should be fitted and cut to cover the bottom. This is set in place with small brass screws.

From there on the seat of the chair will be firm and rounded, and there never will be a repetition of the sagging.

To upholster a chair or cover it with new material is not very difficult. If the old covering is removed carefully and spread out, you will have a perfect pattern by which to cut the new material. Even the method of folding the corners and the pleating will be obvious. It is easy to follow and difficult to make a mistake.

Broken legs are best remedied by gluing both surfaces, placing them together and tying them firmly.

Small holes are then drilled through the broken off piece and the leg, and long, thin brass screws set in to secure them together. The screw head should be sunk below the leg surface and the hole filled with plastic wood.

Steel Experts See Passage Of 'Low Point'

CLEVELAND (AP)—As the third quarter opens, many steelmen are confident that the low point for the year in steel orders has been passed, Steel Magazine reported today.

"While not looking for large volume business to develop until August or later, they are banking on a fourth-quarter surge in demand that will more than make up for the sag in ordering and shipments during the second and third quarters," the metalworking weekly said.

Two areas reported to "hold promise of strong steel demand over the coming months" are the railroads and construction. Steel said stepped-up ordering in the construction industry awaits settlement of union disputes.

"Much building work has been held up this year both by labor organizations and the delay in restoring the tax credit. The mills shipped 3,615,131 net tons of steel for construction projects in the first four months of the year, down 5.7 per cent from the like period a year ago."

Shipments to railroads and their suppliers in the first quarter were reported down 13.1 per cent, but there has been a surge of orders for new equipment from major railroads since the 7 per cent investment tax credit was restored.

Raw steel production continued to drop in the weeks ended July 1, when mills poured an estimated 2,234,000 net tons compared to 2,250,000 tons the previous week.

Steel's price composite on top grade steelmaking scrap rose 50 cents to $27.17 per gross ton.

Opinions Differ As To What Type Of Finish To Use

Question: I expect to be working on some unfinished furniture this summer.

What is your view about the relative merits of the various kinds of clear finishes, such as varnish, shellac and lacquer? I have asked several persons who have worked with them and I get all kinds of conflicting answers. Can you straighten it out for me?

ANSWER: The reason you got such a variety of answers is that opinion plays such an important part in the matter. You would have received the same kind of conflicting replies if you had questioned a group of experts.

Some wood finishers swear by varnish because of its hard, brilliant surface. Others say that shellac is easier to apply and, when applied in several coats, just as durable.

Many favor lacquer, the finish being used more and more these days on fine furniture, generally via the spraying method.

Still others cast their votes for penetrating finishes or synthetics of various types. In short, you will never get agreement on which finish is best—and we could not possibly make the decision for you, since, after you have worked with finishes, you will find your own favorite.

Why not take one piece of the unfinished furniture and arbitrarily decide which material to use on it? The chances are that, if you take your time and work carefully, you will get a good result.

Most important is that you smooth the wood until you can run your fingers over it without feeling the slightest bit of roughness. When that has been done, you are halfway on the road to success. The most common mistake of the beginner is haste.

TV's 'Spoon-Feeding' Not Good Teaching

CHICAGO (AP)—A couple of educators say television is not a good teacher as long as it continues to spoon-feed information and opinions to children.

Dr. Robert H. Ratcliffe, an assistant professor of education at the University of Illinois' Chicago Circle Campus, and Dr. Eugene Baker, director of instruction at Lincolnwood, Ill., schools, says children learn best by doing research.

"As a matter of fact, children learn 50 per cent more by doing research than by studying textbooks," they said.

Ratcliffe and Baker are educational consultants to a new set of children's resource books being published by Childrens Press, Inc., Chicago.

"Television is guilty of employing the spoon-feeding method," Baker said. "It does not force youngsters to search for answers—it only supplies them."

Portugal supplies about one-half the world's cork.

A New Angle On 'Decks'

Searching for more outdoor living space? Take a tip from the experts and consider building a pentagon-shaped deck—or one in any other non-rectangular shape.

You add considerable square footage to the deck area just by pulling one side out to form a prow, according to landscape designers. And, at the same time, you put a lot of zip into its design.

Just drawing the outline of a pentagon on paper quickly illustrates the amount of space it adds compared to an ordinary rectangle. And it also illustrates another point: that the space is far more arrangeable.

UNRESTRICTED by the rigidity of four right angles, space on the deck opens up to allow more flexible arrangements of seating and dining areas.

A good way to handle it starts with benches built along two or more sides of the deck. This area, then, quickly converts to a conversation grouping when light-weight chairs are drawn up facing the benches, or to an eating space when tables and additional chairs are pulled up. Meanwhile, permanent seating is established.

Another interesting facet of the five-sided deck is that it seems to ease into the garden more gracefully. Planting beds can evolve naturally on two sides, backed by screens to give privacy to the area, if necessary. On the other two sides, 18-inch-wide steps can slide out from the deck to take it down to lawn level.

ON THE fifth side will lie the house or a tall privacy fence, if the deck is built deep in the garden.

In building a pentagonal deck, it's easiest to run the deck boards perpendicular to the house walls. Fir 2-by-4's can be used and laid either flat or on edge, with boards spaced an eighth inch apart to allow rain runoff. If built close to the ground, pressure-treated lumber is recommended.

Flags of five nations—England, Russia, Spain, Mexico and the United States—have flown over California.

Paint Questions Are Discussed

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I have three separate questions and would appreciate if you can answer all of them, since I will be doing the work when my vacation comes up next month.

I intend to paint our house, which is made of cinder block. What type of paint is best for this kind of surface, which was previously painted before I bought the house and which seems to be in good condition?

I also will be painting our garage, which has asbestos cement shingles. Can I use the same paint for the garage as for the house? And, finally, there is a tool shed in the yard which I also want to paint. It appears to be redwood, although I am not sure. There is no paint on it now. What is your advice about this?

ANSWER: Because cinder block has both acid and alkali in it, oil paints are not recommended. Your best bet is a solvent-thinned rubber base paint of this type used on swimming pools.

Since this paint also is very good for asbestos cement shingles, you can do your house and garage with the same paint, although exterior latex paint formulated for use on masonry could also be used. As for the redwood, don't paint it unless you want to change its color.

Use clear water repellent to retain its natural look as well as preserve it, although it usually will hold well without a coating.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our problem is a 15-year-old son. Ronnie gives away everything he gets his hands on. This is not a recent habit. He has been doing it ever since he was a small child.

My first recollection of his "generosity" was when I spent the whole day baking for a church bazaar and the next morning Ronnie gave all the baked goods to the kids in the neighborhood.

He has given away my new riding boots, his father's yard equipment and his own chemistry set. A few weeks ago he said he was nearly out of shirts. I bought him a half dozen new shirts in January. I'm sure he gave his shirts to some friend.

I have considered giving away his stereo and camera to teach him a lesson and get him out of the habit. What do you think of the idea, Ann? Would it work?—NOTHING LEFT

Dear Nothing: Don't do it. It never does any good to treat the symptom and ignore the problem. The boy's gift-giving compulsion is evidence that he needs to feel loved. Giving usually produces praise and warm comments. This is why the boy started to play Santa Claus at an early age and has kept it up. Take the hint and give him what he really needs.

Population Explosion

Dear Ann: There is a lot to be said for stricter gun laws. If I had had a gun in the house last Sunday, I think I'd have shot my mother-in-law. For the 100th time she said to me, "Why don't you try one more time, Edith. The next one has to be a girl."

I would like nothing better than to have a girl, Ann, but I'm 36 years old and I don't want a sixth boy.

My husband just sits there looking underprivileged. He never opens his mouth to say a word in my behalf. If someone would give me a guarantee that my next baby would be a girl, I'm plenty satisfied with things as they are.

Please tell me how I can get my mother-in-law off my back.—HECKLED.

Dear Heck: Smile sweetly and pretend you have a dead battery in your hearing aid.

Going Thankless

Dear Ann: I'm a grandmother who wants some advice. For the past six years I've sent my grandchildren cards with cash enclosed for all occasions—birthdays, Christmas and Easter. I have yet to receive an acknowledgment from any of them.

Two of my grandchildren are not old enough to write, but their mother is. Would it be mean of me to send only cards?

from now on, minus the cash? Thank you for your help.—PHILADELPHIA GRAM.

Dear Gram: I feel sorry for children whose mother has failed to teach them the fundamentals of good manners.

If you did not write or telephone to learn if the cards and money were received, you should have done so. I suggest that you give them one more round. If you receive no acknowledgment, make a point of it—not to be punitive, but to teach the children good manners. If, after being told, they still do not acknowledge your gifts, stop sending them.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Turkey Producer Seeks Damages

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio turkey producer asked $2.8 million in damages Monday from an Iowa firm accused of selling a contaminated vaccine that wiped out his flock.

Steenbergen Turkey Farms Inc., of nearby Powellville, filed the action in Scioto County Common Pleas Court against Salisbury Laboratories of Charles City, Iowa. Court spokesmen said the suit was the biggest ever brought here. Steenbergen said vaccine designed to prevent a certain fowl disease was purchased from the Iowa firm in May, 1966. The suit contends the vaccine caused loss of 5,742 birds and affected the rest of the flock so that those turkeys failed to gain weight or reproduce.

Ohio Committee Slates Meeting On Local Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A select committee named to draft legislation for revision of local taxes will hold its first meeting Wednesday, Rep. Albert H. Sealy Jr. R-84 Dayton, announced Monday.

Sealy is chairman of the 13-member committee which will consider recommendations of the Ohio Tax Study Commission. Generally, they call for raising of more revenue at the local level without imposing additional burdens on real or personal property.

The Dayton Republican expressed the hope that the committee, named last week by House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess R-Wood, can draft a bill sooner than originally anticipated.

"We are not closing the door on bringing out a measure even before adjournment," he added. He noted that such a measure could be considered after a talked-about summer recess, at a special session later on, or by the 1969 General Assembly.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

DEAR HELOISE: When I have leftover hot dog or hamburger buns (and who doesn't) that are beginning to dry out...

I open them and spread on Parmesan cheese. Then I pop them under the broiler until they start to turn a golden brown.

My family thinks they're delicious and actually looks forward to having leftover buns.

MARY ANN SCHNEPP

Mary Ann, I tried your idea on leftover hamburger buns last night and they were delicious! I sprinkled a little garlic salt on some of them, and that was yummy, too.

Something else...

Cut or break leftover hot dog buns apart, cut each side in half down the middle and butter all uncrusty sides of each piece, then broil them. Instant bread sticks!

Wonderful — especially with soups and salads.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: When packing the car trunk for a trip, we try to leave some space above the luggage.

Clothing best carried on hangers is buttoned up inside a raincoat and laid flat on top of the luggage.

Each night when we stop, we hang this bundle up intact and usually arrive with clothing ready to put on without any pressing necessary.

GRANDMOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: Will you please tell me how to preserve a corsage so that I can keep it as a remembrance of a special occasion.

A READER.

Does anyone know of a special way to preserve these mementoes? How about writing us your favorite method (in care of this paper). Oh, we'd love to hear from you.

HELOISE.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: While scribbling this note I refereed three separate fights and had a private nervous breakdown.

That ought to explain the spelling and neatness.

MARTINA.

DEAR HELOISE: My friend next door likes to pack cold fruit juice and cold drinks in her lunch, but always had trouble chipping ice to go into a vacuum bottle.

She filled some plastic pill bottles with water, capped them and put them in the freezer.

The nice round cylinders of ice slip into the small neck of the bottle smooth as a whistle.

If you hold the frozen pill bottle in your hand for a moment, the warmth loosens the ice and it slides out real easy.

Burglars Take Drinks At Tavern In East End

Two bottles of whisky, two fifths of vodka and about 10 cigarette lighters on a display card were taken in a burglary discovered Monday at an East End tavern, police reported.

The entry was reported at the Silver Star Cafe on Mulberry St., owned by Paul Jones of the YMCA, officers said. It was discovered by Alberta Lowther, a waitress, when she reported for work Monday morning.

Police said the intruder gained entrance by breaking a 22-x-43-inch pane of glass in a rear window.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a croquet set so I know that sometimes it is hard to see the wire arches. Having once tripped over one, I now put colorful fluorescent tape around them in order to see them better.

This also makes the game quicker and easier because you are not always hunting for the wire arches.

VALERIE SESCO

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of using refrigerator bowls to store my leftovers in, I put them in tall water glasses and cover them with plastic bags or fruit jar lids. I know immediately what is leftover as I can see it easily (which I can't if using covered refrigerator dishes) and therefore use it up quickly. It also takes up less shelf space.

Doubleheader Card Set For Today At Waterford

Roman navy and precious cargo, two of Waterford Park's prize packages in horse value, are keyed to celebrate Independence Day at the West Virginia oval today in the Stars and Stripes Purse which headlines the afternoon program of the annual doubleheader of racing.

The Independence Day is the top attraction for the evening card. First race in the afternoon is scheduled at 1:30 p.m. with 7:15 the scheduled time for the evening start.

The Stars and Stripes is a mile and 70-yard race while the Independence Day is at six furlongs.

Roman Navy, owned by Louis St. Clair and trained by the veteran Herb Jolley, has been one of the most consistent racers at Waterford Park this year, finishing in the money in five of his nine starts. He now has won more money this year in nine starts than he did in 1966 with 15 places to the post.

Precious Cargo, too, has been consistent at the Waterford course and usually goes to the post the favorite. In today's event the Navy takes the nod over the Cargo although both Roman Navy and Precious Cargo face stern competition from Grandville Barker's Lass-o-scot which was vanned here from Cleveland for the Stars and Stripes.

Steeplechase Program Planned At Waterford

Waterford Park will introduce steeplechase racing this year starting on Friday, July 28. It has been announced by James F. Edwards, president of Waterford Park, and by the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association in New York, headquarters for the steeplechase and hunt association.

Waterford Park will now join five other major race tracks in the United States that conduct steeplechasing. They are Belmont Park, Aqueduct and Saratoga in New York, Monmouth Park in New Jersey and the DuPont's Delaware Park near Philadelphia.

The Waterford Park steeplechase season is to start Friday, July 28, and conclude Sept. 4. The jump races will highlight the regular program of thoroughbred racing.

"The introduction of hurdle racing at Waterford Park in West Virginia, is highly gratifying," said F. Eugene Dixon, Jr., president of NSHA. "We feel it will widen the scope of

In starting in the holiday feature both Roman Navy and Precious Cargo probably will forego starting in the Waterford mile which is to be run Friday night. The mile is the first of the six stakes events to be run at Waterford this year. It has attracted many top flight handicappers including T. J. Sim's R-Hit which ran Roman Navy into defeat at Waterford on June 17.

The Independence, a six furlong dash which tops the evening program tonight, is topped by the Dory Maxwell entry of Inducement and Mr. Dipper.

It's seldom two horses that ran a dead heat race each other again on their next time to the post. Yet, this is what will happen in the ninth race on the afternoon card. Entered are Raisin and April Glance which finished in a dead heat on Monday, June 26. The dead heat race was at six furlongs while today's renewal of the battle is at a mile and seventy yards.

There will be entertainment furnished between the afternoon and evening programs in the form of daring parachute jumps by the Alliance Parachute Club. The jumpers are to leave a plane over the infield of the race track at a height of 5,000 feet and guide themselves to earth on targets set in the area.

steeplechasing and will help the sport considerably."

John F. Cooper, NSHA racing secretary said that Waterford Park will in no way conflict with the Saratoga meeting. "Waterford Park can prove a learning ground for aspiring riders and potential hurdle horses", he said. "Currently there is a dearth of riders. After all, West Virginia has been the birthplace of many top jockeys, among them Bill Hartack."

Cooper says already he received commitments from trainers Mike Smithwick, Burly Cocks, Kenny Field, Mickey Walsh, Dooley Adams, Willard Thompson and Pat Smithwick, stating they will race at Waterford Park.

West Virginia is bounded by states that are actively engaged in hunt racing, assuring a number of horses that should develop into stakes' caliber.

The hurdle course is now under construction and will be very similar to Aqueduct. It will have two jumps on the homestretch and three on the backside.

Buckpasser In Aqueduct $100,000 Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Buckpasser, his string of 15 straight victories just a memory, returns to competition Tuesday in the $100,000-added Suburban Handicap at Aqueduct intent on matching the performances of his dad and mom in the 81st running of the 1 1/4-mile turf classic.

Tom Fool, sire of Ogden Phipps' mighty 4-year-old, won the 1953 running of the Suburban, and Busanda, Buckpasser's mother, took the 1951 renewal.

The last time Buckpasser was in action was June 17 when he wound up third in the Bowling Green Handicap as he made his first appearance on the grass. The defeat snapped his winning streak at 15 but the short end of the purse ran his career earnings to $1,347,744.

For Tuesday's race, the richest on the national card, Buckpasser will carry 133 pounds and give 14 to 28 pounds to seven opponents.

The Eddie Naylor-trained star toted 135 in the Bowling Green and carried 130 when he won the first leg of New York's handicap triple on May 30 while capturing the one mile of the Metropolitan Handicap.

The three-part series will be concluded later in the month with the $100,000-added Brooklyn Handicap. Only three horses have won all three—Tom Fool, Whisk Broom, way back in 1913, and Kelso, the world's leading money winner. Kelso turned the trick in 1961.

Braulio Baeza returns from Paris, where he finished fourth with Assagay in Sunday's Grand Prix de St. Cloud, in time to be in his usual position on the back of Buckpasser.

The track handicapper has made Buckpasser and his famous rider the 1-2 choice to pick up the major share of the $110,800 purse. First place, with eight starters, will be worth $72,020.

Reginald Webster's Amberoid, one of the top 3-year-olds of 1966 who always is a threat off his stretch running ability, is the second highweight under 118 pounds and also the runner-up in the advance odds at 6-1. He'll be ridden by red hot Angel Cordero Jr.

The field is rounded out by Yonder, 109 and 8-1; Handsome Boy, 114 and 8-1; Widsner Handicap winner Ring Twice, 111 and 10-1; Understanding, 112 and 10-1; Sette Bello, 111 and 12-1, and John-I Nor, 115 and 50-1.

6-Under Par 65 Sweeps Playoff

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MONTREAL (AP) — Billy Casper, thundering over the soggy course like a buffalo stampede, fired a fantastic six-under-par 65 Monday and crushed struggling Art Wall by four strokes in their 18-hole playoff for the Canadian Open Golf Championship.

Casper, who forced the playoff when he came from five strokes back with seven holes to play in regulation Sunday, played near flawless golf in posting the best round of the tournament.

He reeled off six birdies without a single bogey, missed only two greens and had eight one-putt greens.

The key to his spectacular showing was his putting. The one-time fat man, who lost 50 pounds on a diet that included buffalo steaks, blueberries and bear meat, used only 28 putts.

The two-time U.S. Open champion, holed birdie putts of 25, 15, 5, 4, 20, and 7 feet, and saved par with putts of 4 and 25 feet on the only two greens he missed—the ninth and 10th.

The greying, 44-year-old Wall, a former Masters and Canadian Open champ, who led after the second and third rounds, had to scramble desperately over the 6,600-yard Montreal municipal course, made heavy and slow by morning-long rains.

Wall finished with an excellent 69, two-under-par, but stayed within sight of the methodical Casper only with some great recoveries, after straying all over the course.

He was in five traps, once hit a tree, again was stymied by a tree, flew one green, once was out-of-bounds and still again topped a shot when he used a driver in the fairway on the par-five 15th.

He picked up one of his four birdies there, an incredible performance. His drive hit a tree on the right, but bounced back on the fairway. Then, using his driver, he topped the ball. But he pitched almost 200 yards to within seven feet of the hole and sank for a birdie.

Wall also had two bogeys, on the ninth and 18th. On the ninth, he put his second shot over the bleachers under a tree. He pitched out short, chipped to within one foot and tapped in.

On the 18th, his drive was out of bounds. Taking a penalty of stroke and distance, he reached the green in five and ran in a 12-footer for a bogey.

The victory was worth $30,000 plus 25 per cent of Monday's gate to Casper, who notched his first victory of the year and the 34th of his career. Wall picked up $18,500 and 25 per cent of the gate.

Strikes Back At Touring Pros

PGA Head Says Golfers' Bid Near To Extortion

PALM BEACH GARDEN, Fla. (AP) — Max Elbin, president of the Professional Golfers Association, said Monday the demands of the rebellious touring pros are approaching extortion.

In a strongly worded statement, Elbin struck back at the pro golfers who last week gave the PGA Executive Committee until this Wednesday to go along with the players' solution to the differences that exist between the two sides.

The controversy centers around the veto power the PGA possesses. The matter supposedly was settled in a meeting in Cleveland two weeks ago, but a new difference of opinion exists over what was agreed upon at that session.

"The PGA has gone as far as it can go in trying to reach an accommodation with the players," Elbin said. "They have everything they claim they wanted. Now their demands are approaching extortion."

"They are demanding the unconditional surrender of the executive committee which is elected to govern their association. The PGA has backed up to the edge of the cliff. There is no room for another backward step."

Noting that the touring pros have said they will strike the PGA championship at Denver, Colo., July 20-23 "unless the executive committee relinquishes its constitutional veto power over all segments of the PGA," Elbin said:

"The players say they want to continue living in the PGA house. They say they want to play in the PGA championship in Denver. But in the same breath, they say they are prepared to turn their backs and follow another road unless they are given license to act independently of the PGA."

"This is like insisting upon all the rights and privileges of American citizenship while rejecting the law of the land. This is anarchy, pure and simple, and the PGA obviously cannot accept such a concept."

"If the leaders of the rebellious tournament players are genuinely concerned about preserving the PGA championship and their own PGA status, and even the very PGA itself, they will abandon this reckless course and accept a mature responsibility to the game and to their professional organization. "They will put the gun away before somebody gets hurt."

11 Big College Conference Heads Back New Grid Rules

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Commissioners of 11 major collegiate athletic conferences voted Monday to endorse the new NCAA football rules, including the controversial punt regulation.

The Collegiate Commissioners Association commended the NCAA Football Rules Committee for its continued progress and pledged "our complete cooperation and support in following the NCAA code during the upcoming football season."

Under the new punt rule, tacklers cannot go downfield until the ball passes the scrimmage line. Some coaches, fearing the regulation may lead to injuries, have said they will not abide by it.

The association, with Big Ten Commissioner William Reed of Chicago presiding at a five-day session here, also recommended that graduate students be permitted to participate in intercollegiate sports if their eligibility has not expired.

The commissioners also urged the NCAA Television Committee to continue efforts to "prevent the necessary TV commercials from disrupting normal progress of play during televising of college football games."

Australia's Newcombe New Wimbledon Choice

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Australian John Newcombe wound up Monday as the only seeded player left in the men's singles of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships—the first time this happened to the semifinals in the 40-year history of seeding at Wimbledon.

Newcombe, third seeded, defeated the only other seeded player in the quarter-finals, sixth-ranked Ken Fletcher of Australia, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

The 23-year-old Newcombe immediately established himself as the man to beat for the title, whipping Fletcher with a great forehand off the ground and a brilliant passing forehand shot.

The next man in his way to the championship is Nicola Pilic, who became the first Yugoslavian ever to reach the semifinals by edging John Cooper of Australia 14-12, 8-10, 6-4, 6-2.

The other semifinal Wednesday matches Roger Taylor of Britain against Wilhelm Bungert of West Germany. Taylor knocked off Ray Ruffels of Australia 6-4, 8-6, 6-4 while Bungert eliminated Thomas Koch of Brazil 6-4, 4-6, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Since the Wimbledon Championship Committee established seeding in 1927, never before has there been a year when only one seeded player reached the semifinals.

In lusting this far, Newcombe has eluded the wave of upsets that struck the other seven seeds, including defending champion Manuel Santana of Spain, No. 1, and Australia's Roy Emerson, No. 2.

Santana fell to Charlie Pasarell the first day, and Emerson bowed to Pilic in the fourth round Saturday. Pasarell, the last American in the running, lost to Koch, also in the fourth round.

Newcombe, exhibiting a very sharp game, had little trouble with his countryman.

He overwhelmed Fletcher with his serving and volleying in the first set, shattered him in the second as he ran up a 4-0 lead and smashed any hope Fletcher had of rallying by breaking his service in the opening game of the third set.

Pilic, a 27-year-old law student from Split, wore down the 20-year-old Cooper in a serve-and-volley duel that lasted two hours and 40 minutes. The first set alone took 66 minutes.

In defeating Ruffels in a battle of left-handers, Taylor became the first Briton to reach the semifinals since Mike Sangster in 1961. Taylor also kept alive England's hope for its first double-men's and women's titles—since 1934. Two English girls play in Tuesday's quarter-finals.

While no American remains in the men's division, four U.S. girls are left in the women's quarter-finals.

In Tuesday's play, Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., meets Virginia Wade of Britain, Rosemary Casals of San Francisco takes on Australia's Judy Tegart, Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., engages Lesley Turner of Australia and Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis encounters Mrs. Ann Jones of Britain.

Miss Maxwell Takes Golfing Money Lead

CINCINNATI (AP) — Susie Maxwell saw an amateur win the women's National Open golf championship Sunday, but Miss Maxwell still jumped into first place in money winnings in the Ladies Professional Golf Association.

Miss Maxwell and Beth Stone tied for second in the Open behind amateur Catherine LaCoste of France. They split the first and second place money for pros. It brought each of them $3,600.

The winnings boosted Miss Maxwell's 1967 official total to $12,596.56 and put her ahead of the season-long leader, Kathy Whitworth. Miss Whitworth won only $470 in the Open and now has a total of $11,877.50.

Wings Place Palmer On Disabled Group

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Palmer, a 15-game winner with the world champion Baltimore Orioles last season, was placed on the disabled list Monday by the Rochester Red Wings of the International League.

A spokesman for the Orioles said the 21-year-old right-hander would be sent to Baltimore for another examination of his ailing right shoulder.

Has Spike Wound On Heel

'Mr. Chicago Cub' Due Return To Lineup Soon

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Ernie Banks, Mr. Chicago Cub, is expected to return to his first base post by the end of this week, the club's front office said Monday.

The 36-year-old Banks, nursing a spike wound on his heel, is with the sizzling Cubs in Atlanta. He was accidentally spiked Saturday by the Cincinnati Reds' Pete Rose. It took seven stitches to close the wound, although it was not deep.

Banks, hitting .310 with 15 homers and 44 runs batted in before leaving the lineup, spent Sunday's game with the Reds in a radio booth. He rendered some color comments and led cheers for the team as it tied the St. Louis Cardinals for first place in the National League with its sixth straight victory and 13th in its last 14 games.

Before leaving town, Rose told reporters that "Banks was very kind to say I was blameless in our Saturday collision that caused his spike wound."

"He didn't have to say anything, but great guys do these things whether they have to or not," Rose added. "I've never deliberately tried to hurt anybody. Anyway, I have too much regard for Ernie to start with him. I'm also sorry the fans reacted the way they did toward me. If they had known all the facts, I'm sure they wouldn't have booed me as they did, but that is all part of the game."

Rose said that the Cubs will be troublesome in the pennant chase all the way.

"I don't buy that talk that being up there is a fluke for them," he said. "I especially like their second base-shortstop combination of Glenn Beckert and Don Kessinger. The Cubs' infield is better defensively right now than the one the Dodgers used to win the pennant last season. Beckert and Kessinger position themselves very well, and they eat up a lot of balls labeled hits."

"I don't know about the depth of the Cubs' pitching, but that infield can right a lot of wrongs on the mound."

The Cubs will have to try to keep winning without Kessinger as well as Banks for awhile. Kessinger missed Sunday's game as he began a two-week stay with his Army Reserve unit in Ft. Riley, Kan.

The Cubs also are without their sensational centerfielder, Adolfo Phillips. He is bothered with a muscle spasm in his back and has played only one game in the last nine days. His return is uncertain although he suits up each day and tries to work out. Phillips sports a .319 at the plate with 13 homers and 48 RBIs.

In the meantime, Paul Popovich is at shortstop, Lee Thomas as first base and Ted Savage in center. And the Cubs keep winning.

Traffic

least 22 persons had been killed since the 102-hour holiday period began at 6 p.m. Friday. It ends midnight Tuesday.

There were at least 19 deaths between the start of the period and midnight Sunday. Still to come is the crucial Tuesday afternoon and evening periods when holiday motorists will be heading home.

The latest traffic dead: Kenneth Teener, 37, and his wife, Martha, 36, Hillsboro, when their truck overturned on U. S. 62 near Leesburg Monday.

Larry Powers, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Powers of Vermillion, died Monday in a Lorain hospital of injuries received in a two-car accident Sunday night.

Streets

In the next step in the program, Council will authorize the administration to call for bids and enter into a contract for the surfacing.

Pirates Sign Another Of Free Agent Draft

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced the signing Monday of another player drafted from the free agent baseball draft.

He is John R. Landry, 18, of Baton Rouge, La., a first baseman. He was their eighth draft choice. This brings to 29 the number of players signed by the Pirates.

U.N. Plans Sea Group

ROME (AP) — The United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization is planning to establish regional "sea area" commissions to protect and develop the resources of the world's oceans. The "sea areas" would be open to fishermen of all U.N. nations on a regulated basis.

Simple Rites Mark Burial Of Actress

PEN ARGYL, Pa. (AP) — Jayne Mansfield, the blonde and buxom actress who won international fame as a sex symbol, was buried Monday with simple, Methodist rites in a setting that was almost as unreal as some of her movies.

Her family had sought to avoid the sharp spotlight of publicity which the 34-year-old Jayne relished all her life. But the public craving to be near a celebrity, even in death, created a circus atmosphere on this Independence Day eve in the tiny borough where she had spent several years of her early childhood.

There were crowds of nearly 1,000 both in front of the Pulli Funeral Home, and at the Fairview Cemetery about two miles away.

Adults and children, many dressed in bathing suits and in shorts, sat on the curbstones or on their porches. Many went to the cemetery early, hours before the 2 p.m. service and had their lunch picnic-style while waiting for the 16-car procession to arrive.

Spectators broke through police lines and ran across grass covered graves to snap photographs of the bronze casket with its blanket of pink roses.

"We just wanted a little privacy," said Mickey Hargitay, her second husband. "Why couldn't the people have left us to weep in peace."

Miss Mansfield's oldest daughter, Jayne Marie, 16, was the only one of her five children present at the brief services in the flower-filled chapel and at the graveside conducted by the Rev. Charles Montgomery.

She wept, and covered her reddened eyes with large sunglasses. Hargitay cried too as did Jayne's mother, Mrs. Harry Peers, who had flown in from Dallas, Tex.

Miss Mansfield was killed instantly last Thursday in a violent car-truck collision near New Orleans, La. Her attorney, and chauffeur also died in the crash.

Her three children by Hargitay were injured but not critically.

Miss Mansfield's other husbands, Paul Mansfield and Matt Cimber, reportedly were scheduled to attend the rites, but were not present when the services were read.

The demonstrations erupted as schools reopened classes after a three-week shutdown after a series of violent student demonstrations last month.

President Park's landslide victory in the May 3 election was not questioned, but the opposition New Democratic party and students have denounced the June 8 balloting for parliament as rigged and have announced a boycott of the new legislature and demanded a new election.

There are more than 12,000 kinds of paper and 100,000 uses for them.

Air Tour Slated To Include Many Southern County Sites

LISBON — Fliers on the conservation and agriculture air tour Saturday will see southeastern Columbiana County and look into Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Flights will begin at 9:30 a.m. from Leslie airfield, near Williamsport, and continue until dusk.

Taking off from Leslie in the three-passenger planes furnished by Don Sickafosse of Magnolia, the tourists will make a 25-minute flight. The 40 - mile course covers:

Williamsport Chapel near Route 7, middle fork of Little Beaver Creek, tree plantings, strip mine areas, west branch of the Little Beaver.

West Point, Route 11 — Lake Erie - to - Ohio River Freeway under construction, proposed location of a traffic cloverleaf Morgan's Monument and roadside park.

Thompson potato farm, wilderness area along Little Beaver Creek, state division of Wildlife area, Highlandtown Dam.

East Liverpool and Wellsville, the Ohio River, industries, suburban developments, S w a n e y Airport — site of the proposed county airport, monuments for the Northwest Territory survey.

Fredericktown historical and wilderness area, Beaver Creek State Park, Gaston's Mill, recreational areas for fishing, picnicking, golfing and camping.

The tour is sponsored by the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District, the Agricultural Extension Service of Ohio State University and the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Planners say the tour emphasizes the interdependence of rural and urban communities and the importance of natural resources to everybody. They hope for a good response from urban residents.

The Division of Forestry will provide firefighting equipment, the New Waterford Bank will furnish printed tour guides and passengers will be briefed by Herman Reuter, farm planner for the conservation district; Joe D. Pittman, county extension agent for agriculture, and Clifford Shaw, office manager for the ASC committee. There will be a refreshment stand on the grounds.

Accused Of Violation
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — State officials have accused Florida of violating a reciprocal trade agreement by imposing a new mileage tax on out of state trucks. Tennessee threatens a tax war in retaliation.

Thurman Sisco was scheduled to tar the roofs of the two township fire stations in a $450 project. Bills totaling $1,675 were paid. The next meeting will be July 14.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEA SHELL

QUESTION: Why do we hear the sea in a sea shell?

ANSWER: Looking at an empty sea shell we often forget that a soft-bodied animal of the mollusk group once lived inside of it. After hatching from an egg, the mollusk begins life as a tiny free swimming veliger (1) which soon sinks down to the bottom and begins to develop a hard shell (2). When adult (3) the mollusk can pull itself inside the shell and close the opening with a horny plate (4). After its life span is over the animal dies, but the empty shell remains. Emily hears a faint sound like breaking waves as she holds an empty conch shell over her ear. This is because, beside the louder sounds we hear, there are always many fainter sounds. The shell magnifies many little noises so that altogether they make a sound that reminds one of breaking waves. The big shell is called Glory-of-the-Seas. A single shell of this kind has been sold for $1,200.

Melanie Wells of Barberton, Ohio, wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Ten years ago — The Soviet army backed the ouster of opponents of Nikita Khrushchev from their high government posts.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy called for an Atlantic partnership — in a July 4th broadcast from Independence Hall.

One year ago — Britain's Queen Elizabeth escaped injury when a concrete block was dropped on her car in Belfast in Northern Ireland.

Today In History

by The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, July 4, the 185th day of 1967. There are 189 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, the U.S. Declaration of Independence was adopted by the Continental Congress in Philadelphia.

On this date: In 1802, the U.S. Military Academy opened at West Point. In 1826, the second and third Presidents of the United States, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, died.

In 1831, death came to another American President on Independence Day — James Monroe.

In 1863, Vicksburg, Miss., surrendered to Union forces in the Civil War.

In 1872, the 50th American President, Calvin Coolidge, was born in Plymouth, Vt.

In 1946, the Philippines became a republic after 47 years of U.S. sovereignty.
